Jap Envoy Hands FDR Premier's Note

HAS 40-MINUTE CONFERENCE IN WHITE HOUSE

Topic of Talk With President, Hull Believed Shipment of Supplies to Russia.

NOMURA SEES NO RIFT

Declines to Give Details of Personal Message From Prince Konoye.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—In a proceeding that has had no parallel in Nipponese-American relations in recent years, the Japanese ambassador, Kichisaburo Nomura, today delivered a personal massage from the prime minister of Japan to President Roosevelt.

Nature of the message was not disclosed.

Following a 40-minute conference with the president and Secretary of State Cordell Hull at the White House, the Japanese ambassador said, in response to questions, that he was not informed of any plans by Japan to stop by force the shipment of American supplies to Russia via Vladivostok.

Although the Japanese envoy declined to divulge the nature of the message from the prime minister—Prince Konoye—he indicated that it did not involve any possible rupture of relations between the United States and Japan.

Asked whether he expected to return to Tokyo in the near future, Admiral Nomura said:

"You mean that I may be getting my passport soon? I certainly hope not."

The envoy evaded all questions as to whether he felt optimistic as a result of his conference with the president, or whether he thought that progress had been made in bridging the gap between the respective positions of the two governments.

"You ask the president or Secretary Hull that question," he told reporters.

The ambassador was smiling and appeared in a good humor as he left the White House.

It is one of the rare occasions

Richland 21'ers Healthier, Draft Exams Indicate

Richland county's new group of 21-year-old registrants for military service are healthier boys than those in the older groups and stand less chance of deferment because of bad teeth or heart ailments, physical examinations conducted yesterday at the Mansfield Armory show.

Of the 24 new registrants examined yesterday, 17 qualified and two or three others may pass after further investigation of their cases, selective service board clerks said today.

Less than half of some of the groups examined in the past qualified, while the average of men rated as acceptable by the army has been little more than half of the total number examined, board records show. Since the examinations were

Dayton Acts To Solve Its Job Dilemma

Faces Same Problem As Mansfield, City Leaders Taking Steps.

Faced with a drop in employment similar to that which threatens Mansfield as a result of a prospective curtailment of industrial activities, Dayton civic and industrial leaders took steps today to minimize the effect of the probable loss of workers.

A meeting of the city's leaders was called by City Manager F. O. Eichelberger and plans were to be discussed for softening the economic blow which is already being felt in Dayton because of federal restrictions on domestic production.

Like Mansfield where the manufacture of refrigerators at the Westinghouse plant provides jobs for thousands of workers, Dayton anticipates a heavy blow when its huge Frigidaire plant, employing 16,600 workers, goes on a limited production schedule to conserve raw materials for defense industries.

Dayton also would be affected by curtailment of automobile productions since a number of the city's larger industries produce parts for cars.

Production of both refrigerators and automobiles is expected to be 26 percent which would leave about 5,000 workers without jobs in Dayton, according to Ralph D. Henderson, vice chairman of the Ohio State Defense council.

"The problem is chiefly a transitional one," Henderson added. "If these men are thrown out of work now the labor supply problem will really be tremendous a few months hence when the transition period is over because I don't believe these men will be able to hang around waiting for their jobs."

While no estimate has been made of the number of workers in Mansfield who might be affected by the reduced production scale, civic and industrial leaders here believe that the city can scarcely escape its influence.

Officials of the Westinghouse plant have been attempting for several days to obtain defense orders to help tide the plant here over the drop in employment anticipated when the government order for restricting production goes into effect.

YOUTH STABBED

CCC Enrollee Jailed After Argument Over 15 Cents.

Accused of stabbing a camp mate with a handmade knife during an argument over a 15-cent debt, a 17-year-old colored enrollee of the Mansfield CCC camp was in the Richland county jail today.

Wounded in the left shoulder was Louis Robert Atchley, 19, of Mt. Gay, W. Va. He was treated by a physician and at the camp first aid center. His condition was not believed serious.

Deputy Sheriffs C. C. Gongwer and G. C. Humphrey said the stabbing occurred about 7 a. m., today as the camp enrollees entered the mess hall. Witnesses said the youth accused of the stabbing argued with Atchley over 15 cents which he contended Atchley owed him.

A camp officer was expected to file a charge of cutting with intent to wound against the youth today. County authorities said he enrolled from Akron.

Youthful Bandit Stages Three Robberies at Columbus.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—A youthful bandit, believed by police to be the same man who staged a series of recent Columbus holdups, today robbed three filling station attendants of $64.60. At the first station, the bandit obtained $14.60; at the second, $20, and at the third, $30.

Here are the members of the first foursome in the Ohio Senior golf tournament, which opened here today, to pit their skill against the challenge of the Westbrook course. Veteran Golfers, Old Friends In Mansfield, Tee Off At Westbrook.

WESTBROOK COUNTRY CLUB—Some 120 of Mansfield's old golfing friends were back in town today for their annual tournament—that of the Ohio Senior Golf association.

All of them were, of course, a year older than they were in the 1940 tournament—but they didn't expect to have to add the extra year to their scores. Golfers are like that!

It was hard to tell much about the tournament, which has been a Mansfield fixture for these many years at noon today, because no one had played his first 18 holes, and only

Truck Re-Routing Starts In City 4 Years After Law

More than four years after city council passed an ordinance calling for the re-routing of all U. S. Route 42 truck traffic away from Central park, Mayor William J. Locke announced today that the new routing would go into effect within a week.

State highway department workers are placing route markers along Hedges and First streets this week to detour trucks between Park avenue east and

WILL RESIGN

Australian Prime Minister Expected to Get New Post.

SYDNEY, Australia — (AP) — Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies announced today his intention to resign.

Earlier he had announced an agreement by the British and Australian governments for an Australian minister other than the prime minister to be sent to London to represent the commonwealth in empire war councils.

Presumably Menzie's resignation is to clear the way for him to be that representative. Arthur W. Fadden, treasurer, deputy prime minister and member of the six-man war cabinet, succeeds Menzies as prime minister.

Petroleum Co-ordinator, On Stand at Senate Hearing, Tells of Shortage.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Ralph K. Davies, acting petroleum coordinator, announced today that gasoline supplies for filling stations in the east would be reduced 15 per cent in September compared with July.

Davies' testimony opened a senate investigation of threatened oil shortages. He presented a mass of figures which he said showed that the eastern coast faced an actual shortage of both gasoline and oil for heating and industry this winter.

"We want to find out exactly what the situation is," said Sena-

10,000 OUT OF WORK AS 500 STRIKE

Pickets Keep Employes Away From Ecorse Plant of Great Lakes Steel.

HALTS DEFENSE WORK

Walkout Called 'Wildcat'; UAW Votes Tie-up at Ohio Bumper Factory.

(By United Press)

DETROIT—A strike by 500 workers in the Ecorse plant of the Great Lakes Steel corporation today threw 10,000 employes out of work on vital defense orders as the strikers refused to let anyone pass their picket line.

Federal Labor Conciliator James Dewey said the strike was "wildcat" and "unauthorized by the international union officers."

He said that John Doherty, regional director of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee (CIO) was flying here from Chicago to plead at a mass meeting this afternoon for resumption of work.

The conciliator revealed that previous work stoppages at the plant, which diminished production by 60,000 tons, had been investigated by federal bureau of investigation agents.

"There's something wrong out there," Dewey said.

The strike broke out early today among the 500 scarfers and picklers who were said to resent alleged company adjustment of wages as provided in a contract signed in July.

TAKES OATH

Payne to Become Richland's Treasurer Next Monday.

Deputy county treasurer for the past six years, Charles Payne of Shelby will become treasurer Monday, succeeding John E. Kolb, who has served two terms.

Payne is the last of the county officials elected last November to take office. His oath of office had been administered today by Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston. County commissioners have approved his $40,000 bond.

Although Payne's term officially starts Monday, the courthouse and treasurer's office will be closed for the Labor day holiday.

A veteran of the first World war, Payne served one term as Shelby councilman and was in the grocery business for 19 years in Shelby before Kolb named him as chief deputy. He is a Democrat.

London Reports Cessation of All Resistance

New Cabinet Formed at Teheran; Peace Offensive Reported In Thailand; Germans Claim New Victories In Russia, Say Planes Downed.

BULLETIN

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Aug. 27—(Delayed)—(AP)—Well-informed Axis quarters today said Adolf Hitler has warned Turkey that he may soon need to use Turkish territorial waters in the Black sea but has assured the Turks that he has no other demands.

(By International News Service)

After three days of fighting, Iran today was reported to have given up all attempts to resist Anglo-Russian forces moving deeper into the ancient oil-rich land.

As Iran apparently gave in, history's time-table of this war was given another important date—Iran had capitulated more quickly than any nation but Denmark. It was the nearest thing to a British blitz victory in this war.

Two London dispatches—one circulated by Reuters news agency, the other by the official British radio—said the Teheran wireless today announced that a new cabinet had been formed in Iran and that the new prime minister had given orders for cessation of resistance.

Berlin expressed no surprise. Authoritative German quarters said further Iranian resistance was useless.

"Whether the new situation will compel severance of German-Iranian relations remains to be seen," these German quarters said.

While the Russo-German war roared to new heights of fury along the length and breadth of the battle line, the Nazis were facing new troubles in occupied France. Following an attempt to assassinate Pierre Laval, German occupation authorities today began a sweeping purge of all known and suspected Communists in the Paris region.

In the midst of tidings of war and revolutionary activities a report of a great peace offensive came from Bangkok today. In far-away Thailand, official quarters said the government would appeal to all belligerents soon for an immediate peace—a peace based on the philosophy of Buddhism of abhorrence of war.

Germany today claimed new victories over the Russians. A Berlin announcement claimed 35 Red air force planes were shot down, two Soviet auxiliary cruisers were damaged and heavy losses inflicted on Red army troops.

In addition to new victory

ASKS U. S. TO OPERATE OPS

CIO Union Seeking Federal Control at Warren; AFL Seeks Certification.

As the CIO Utility Workers Organization committee asked the federal government today to take over the operation of the Ohio Public Service company at Warren the AFL Electrical Workers union asked the Cleveland district National Labor Relations board for certification as bargaining agent in all OPS plants.

The move would affect the Mansfield OPS which employs about 40 workers at the Melco generating plant and approximately 130 persons in the sales, distribution and office forces, a company spokesman said.

D. H. Creps, business representative of the Mansfield AFL Electrical Workers Local B688 could not be reached for a statement concerning any action on the part of union members here.

The AFL claimed a majority of employes in Ohio OPS plants located in Mansfield, Ashland, Lorain, Port Huron, Sandusky, Vermillion and Warren. The AFL

Mercury Drops to 40, Light Frost Hits Vegetables

With more than three weeks to go, summer did a "fade-out" for Mansfielders today as the mercury fell to 40 degrees and light frost coated vegetation in some sections of the county.

It was the second lowest August reading on record in the county. Lowest ever reported here for the month was 37 on Aug. 29, 1934.

One low sections of the county was hit by frost this morning and no damage was reported. The reading here was one of the lowest reported in the nation. Even Duluth, Minn., usually one of the country's cool spots, reported a minimum of 49.

The weatherman said it will be warmer tonight and Friday with showers due by Friday night or Saturday. The rain area is drifting southeastward into the state from the Canadian border where showers fell yesterday and today.

Despite clear skies and bright sunshine, the temperature climbed to only 64 degrees at noon today. The average reading for the past 24 hours was 57.5 degrees, 11 below normal.

ENTERS MATCHES

Treasury Pistol Team Will Join Shoot At Camp Perry.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The treasury department will send its crack pistol team to shoot in the national pistol matches opening Sunday at Camp Perry, it was announced today.

These matches, held by the National Rifle association under the auspices of the war department, bring together the cream of the small arms marksmen of the country.

WARNS AGAIN

Mayor Threatens Arrests In Garbage Dumping Cases.

Incensed by the repeated dumping of garbage on city streets, Mayor William J. Locke threatened to order arrests of offenders of health sanitation laws.

Three more complaints were received today, one by the police department and two by Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton. The first was made by an employe at the city's Oak street pumping station who gave police the license number of a man who dumped garbage on East Arch street. Crafton said that the other complaints came from Trimble road and a resident near Maple Lake park.

The mayor said that the offender in one case had been seen dumping gargabe on three other occasions and that he had asked the health department to prosecute the man on the next violation.

Dr. William B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, said a $100 fine and 30 days' imprisonment could be given those convicted.

BOY'S BODY FOUND

Three Guillotined as Vichy Pushes Purge

Drive Follows Attempt to Assasinate Former Premier Pierre Laval.

(By United Press)

VICHY, France — Three men were guillotined at Paris today and Vichy secret police sought anti-government elements in a merciless purge in co-operation with German occupation forces while Vichy authorities charged that the shooting of Pierre Laval and Marcel Deat, collaborationist leaders, was the first move in a vast "Communist conspiracy."

Ministry of justice authorities announced that three men, condemned to death by special courts at Paris yesterday, had been ordered guillotined at the Sante prison.

A Paris dispatch said that Mrs. Fernand de Brinon, wife of the chief Vichy envoy to German occupation forces, had suffered a fractured skull in a "bicycle accident" in the Paris suburbs yesterday almost at the same time as the Laval-Deat shooting, and was in serious condition.

The Laval-Deat case took a sensational turn when it was disclosed that Paul Collette, the confessed assailant, had insisted throughout remorseless all-night questioning that he was not a Communist, as Vichy authorities said, but an anti-Bolshevist and a member of a French right-wing organization.

The Paris special courts, after sentencing three men to death and others to prison terms yesterday, continued its sessions today as secret police swept through the country seeking "Communists" and and other anti-government and anti-German agents.

Defendants included men arrested months ago on charges ranging down from sabotage to the mere sticking up of anti-government and anti-German posters.

COURT ACTION ON AAA MAPPED

Richland Farmers to Join In Legal Movement Against Wheat Penalties.

Richland county farmers who organized recently to protest the government wheat marketing quotas and penalty will join other Ohio county organizations in a court test of AAA wheat program, officials of the Richland county group said today.

An action has already been filed at Dayton by farmers in southwestern Ohio who contend that the wheat sale limitations and the 49-cent penalty on every excess bushel of grain the farmer sells are unconstitutional.

Plans for the proposed court action in this area will be considered at a protest meeting at 8 p. m. Friday in the Lexington Town Hall, according to W. R. Hainer, vice chairman of the Richland county organization.

Principal speaker at the meeting will be C. S. Hagen of Urbana who has been active in the protest organization work in the state. The session will be open to all farmers in the southern half of the county who oppose the government restrictions on wheat, Hainer said.

Hainer said the marketing quotas were imposed upon farmers by an AAA election in which "only 13 of every 100 wheat farmers were allowed to vote."

The quotas were voted at a nation-wide referendum last May 31. Ohio voted the quotas down, but there was enough margin in western wheat states to put them into effect.

SURGERY CURES WORRIES

Liquor Violator Told By Court to Dispose of His 'Brewery.'

HIGH POINT, N. C.—(AP)—A man charged with liquor law violation told Judge D. C. McRae that he was a "wow" at making homebrew. He was so good, in fact, that his friends and neighbors annoyed him no end by furnishing materials.

Judge McRae gave him a choice: Six months or a $25 fine and disposal of his "brewery." The defendant took the latter.

"But my friends won't like it," he said.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, AUGUST 28, 1941.

Hitler stands firmly against the old idea that "there are two sides to every question."

Children should take greater interest in federal expenditures—they'll soon be paying for 'em.

The meek may inherit the earth some day—but this does not seem to be the moment that it would be advisable for them to take over.

Waste In Army Construction

AFTER an investigation, which included sitting in on hearings conducted by a house committee probing the same subject, Senator Truman, of Missouri, tells senators that there has been "tremendous over-cost" in the erection of army buildings.

This is not news—nor does it appear that anything much can be done about it. Waste has been such a common attribute of the New Deal administration, even before emphasis was placed on defense, that the present emergency has merely provided a broader field for incompetent visionaries to toss around more billions of dollars to unscrupulous grafters being fattened at the public trough.

The scandalous waste of taxpayers' money that has been going on in connection with construction contracts associated with the national defense program is being rather calmly accepted as a necessary part of the speed said to be required—but it does appear that the time is ripe for display of some actual ability in handling this gigantic task, so that the mounting billions of dollars which taxpayers are called upon to furnish may be intelligently spent instead of being frittered away.

Detroit's Unsettled Question

NOW that it has been decided, by a vote of 3,076 to 1,925, that a majority of Detroit's street railway and bus employes prefer A. F. of L. to CIO representation in collective bargaining, it may be hoped that the city employes who tied up local transportation in Detroit for five days last week will also realize that they are civil service employes who applied for work which they were hired to do.

It may be doubted if, in any instance, the city of Detroit urged, or asked, any of these men to take a job, and their application and acceptance implied recognition of an obligation to give the regular and dependable service for which they were employed.

Their strike did not bring up matters of wages, hours or working conditions. It was due entirely to a squabble between rival unions.

The question of whether a publicly owned utility can grant exclusive bargaining rights to any particular group of civil service employes remains open for court determination.

Why Did Johnny Misbehave?

NOW that the case of John Habinyak has been disposed of, by reduction of his sentence from 10 years to 3 years, it might serve a useful purpose for some investigator to delve into the early history of this youthful draftee in an effort to discover "What Made Johnny Behave That Way."

Private Habinyak, as you will recall, was the young trainee at Fort Bragg who refused to obey orders of officers and who expressed his contempt of these orders by spitting on the mess room floor.

General Hugh Johnson, in his column last Tuesday, discussed the military aspects of insubordination, as evidenced in the Habinyak case, and the incident has attracted widespread interest and comment—with universal opinion that the war department acted properly in toning down the court martial sentence.

But, after all, the conduct of young Habinyak was made unusual only because he was in military service instead of in civilian occupation—and the transition was probably too abrupt for him to understand.

In the absence of information to the contrary it may be assumed that Habinyak, as a child and young man, had been accustomed to doing pretty much as he liked; with little idea of discipline, either at home or in school, and encouragement of individual "self expression" from infancy.

It sometimes seems that the spankings which tolerant parents withhold are inflicted with greater severity when the child grows up. The discipline that is so essential in military service also has value in preparation for civilian duties.

Faulty Brakes, Crippled Driver

COMPULSORY auto inspection, twice a year, is again being urged in Cleveland after a 2-year-old child was killed by a truck that was found to have faulty brakes.

The fact that the driver of this truck—presumably licensed—has only one arm (the left) might also merit investigation as to assured physical competency to drive a motor vehicle on public streets and highways.

A one-armed driver of a truck with defective brakes gives the first impression of being too great a risk to inflict on the public.

Finding New Uses for Plastics

SO MANY things are being done with plastics nowadays that the potentialities of this new phase of scientific and industrial advancement seem almost limitless.

Whatever may eventually develop in the application of agricultural products to industrial uses it will be worthwhile to keep 1941 in mind as the year in which Henry Ford made the first showing of an automobile in which plastic material was largely substituted for metals.

The idea of increasing the use of agricultural products as industrial material has been one of Mr. Ford's hobbies for a number of years and his experiments have included the use of cotton, wheat, soybeans and corn.

It is claimed for this experimental car that it is lighter and more economical, and that the panels—three-sixteenths of an inch thick—will absorb a blow ten times as great as steel, without denting.

Information is to the effect that it would require 170,000 tons of agricultural products and 50,000 tons of synthetic chemicals to produce plastic bodies for 1,000,000 cars—but it is also made clear that the plastics industry is not yet ready for mass production of cars and that it may be several years before this point is reached.

Meanwhile, however, keep that word, "plastics," in mind. It's one you'll be hearing more about.

SPLENDID IDEA—IF IT WOULD WORK

Listen World!

Why Do You Love?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

WHY DO YOU LOVE? Do you love Baby Eleanor because she's Completely Bewitching and looks exactly as you did when you were three, Mother E.? And are you crazy over Sam Jr., Dad, because the kid is the brightest little shaver in his class and nuts over all the things you, too, went for when you were seven?

Is that why you love—because the loved one in some way reflects or flatters you, "does you proud"? Or is there another rarer reason? Don't answer, though, until you've heard the story. Yes, it's a true one. And if it doesn't change your slant on this sad old world, you certainly need a load of vitamins.

The Browns were going to have a baby! No, it isn't a "blessed event." They'd waited years, realized at last that there could be no such miracle for them. But somewhere there must be a small Somebody to sleep under the blue blanket with the pink bunnies . . . to splash in the pink tub with the blue "twoggies" . . . to fill the hunger for a little fat paw . . . a small droopy head . . . a mop of picture-book curls.

Yes, the Browns were going to have a baby. An extra special, hand-picked one that would make the other neighborhood infants look like a bunch of discards from the bargain basement.

Came the great day, with Dad Brown scuttling importantly out of a taxi and Mom Brown drooping delriously over a bumpy bundle . . . and every parent on the block squinting through the curtains and fit to be tied with curiosity. A general reception, it was announced, would be held the following morning. But first a private preview would be given for the inevitable Best Friend, who arrived at a fast canter with a small side serving of tears.

Tip-toes . . . whispers . . . expectant gasps. Straight through the living room into the bedroom she went, with the Browns following, their eyes blinded with that adoring glory that once turned Bethlehem's meanest manger into the world's most blessed shrine. And there—

There, lying on a small pillow, was the tiniest, sickliest looking scrap of a baby girl that the Best Friend had ever seen. She could not believe her eyes . . . dared not trust her throat. For a long moment she stood, her face averted, struggling for words that would soften the shock. Then blurted out the bleak, uncompromising question:

"But . . . b-but how did you ever come to pick this one?"

Starry eyed, the new mother bent over the pitiful little stray, tucked in a bit of hand so small it seemed a bird's claw, straightened again and smiled.

"Well, we looked at a lot of them, Kate—all of them bigger and stronger than little daughter." Her voice sang in the joy of this dear, new word she had so long wanted to use. "But she looked as if she needed love more than the others did, so we chose her."

The pages fluttered for a moment in my hand as I turned the letter. A newspaper photograph slipped out. There, radiant in her bridal veil stood the little one who had needed love most. And who, for twenty years, had known and grown on its lovely miracle.

WHY DO WE LOVE?

BECAUSE YOU ARE FLATTERED OR FULFILLED BY THE ONE YOU LOVE . . . BECAUSE YOU ARE PLEASED BY THE PRIDE OF POSSESSION?

OR BECAUSE YOUR HEART KNOWS AND ANSWERS THAT NEED . . . AND IN SERVING ANOTHER YOUR OWN HEART IS FILLED?

Timely Editorial

Reasonable Rules.

Regulation of installment credit, which caused some anxiety when proposed, appears to be taking shape with due consideration to business safety. The Federal Reserve board has made tentative proposals for consideration of financial and industrial leaders, a method of approach that is reassuring.

A minimum down payment of one-third on automobiles, aircraft, boats and motorcycles is suggested and at least 20 per cent would be required as down payments on radios, refrigerators and other household appliances. Time limit of 18 months also is imposed on installment contracts.

While these restrictions may delay some buying, they also would serve to prevent running up a poorly founded but huge credit structure which would be sure to collapse when completion of the defense program lessens government spending. — Detroit News.

Health And Diet

Health Questions Answered Here.

—By DR. CLENDENING

A. R. S.: "What is meant when they say abscessed teeth poison the system? Just what part of the body do they harm?"

Answer: The pus and germs from the abscessed tooth may get into the circulation and light on the joints, nerves, the heart, or the kidneys, setting up inflammation in those organs.

F. S.: Is the kissing of young people sanitary? I know a young couple and I would like to break them of it."

Answer: The kissing of young people is sanitary if neither of them has a contagious disease. If you think that you can break young people of the habit of kissing, you are the optimist of the world—or the pessimist.

A. B. M. H.: "Can you please tell me what can be done to get rid of corns?"

Answer: Get rid of the cause first, which is a badly fitting shoe or stocking or both. Any amount of money invested in a comfortable shoe which throws the weight off the corn is worth while. The removal of corns is usually simple with corn plaster and a good corn knife.

S. F. W.: "I have been on a reducing diet. I never drink but one cup of black coffee at breakfast and do not seem to care for a hot drink at any other time of day. My weight averages 184, height 5'11½", age 75. My ailment is high blood pressure. Is there any drink to be substituted for coffee?

Answer: I do not believe you should try to substitute anything for black coffee. You probably need it at your age, and it will do your blood pressure good rather than harm.

M. G. M.: "What causes phelbitis? I had it at child-birth twenty months ago, and my leg still swells. What is the best treatment for it?"

Answer: Phlebitis after childbirth causes a clot to form in a vein of the leg. In the course of time, the circulation is restored through other channels but the clot in the big vein causes the leg to swell after exercise for a long time. There is nothing dangerous about this, but would advise an elastic supporter to be worn for a year or two.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Willkie Backs Plan for Coalition, FDR Attacks Party Isolationists

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—There was real political dynamite behind that letter President Roosevelt sent the Young Democrats convention in Louisville blasting Democratic isolationists as "obstructionists who are in the wrong party."

The scorching attack was a tip-off on undercover plans which may make next year's congressional elections the hottest in years.

Nothing has been said about it, but certain administration and Republican leaders have discussed uniting Democratic and Republican forces to oppose all congressional isolationists regardless of party label.

Under the proposed plan, administration-GOP backing would be thrown behind incumbent anti-isolationist congressmen whether they are Democrats or Republicans. Furthermore strong coalition candidates would be entered against isolationist congressmen seeking re-election.

One of the most significant things about the plan is that it has the hearty approval of Wendell Willkie.

Discussing it with a group of friends the GOP standard bearer declared, "The people should have the opportunity in every senatorial and congressional election next year for a clear-cut expression of opinion on this all-important issue of foreign policy. This referendum should not be cluttered up with phony or inconsequential issues.

"In districts represented by isolationists we should put the strongest candidate in the field we can get, regardless of his party label or economic views. I'd like to see young men and women brought into this campaign. Let's get away from the old political hacks. Let's bring youth into this fight. It's theirs primarily and they should be in the lead in it.

"Personally, I am prepared to support anti-isolationist candidates regardless of their party affiliation or economic views. If they are right on the foreign issue, then I will be for them and will take the stump for them."

Political-Go-Round.

SOME Democratic leaders in Oregon have launched a movement to give the state's able, veteran Senator Charles McNary the Democratic as well as the Republican nomination when he comes up for re-election next year. McNary stands high in Roosevelt's esteem and administration chiefs have expressed approval of the non-partisan plan. . . . Although 1944 is still a long way off, Illinois' ambitious Governor Dwight H. Green already is dreaming dreams about the GOP presidential nomination. Political intimates launched a boom for him at a luncheon at French Lick attended by GOP bigwigs from Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky. In political circles the affair is viewed as savoring strongly of a "stop Willkie" movement . . . Senator "Curly" Brooks, militant Illinois isolationist, will have tough opposition for the GOP nomination next spring. Former Representative Ralph E. Church is planning to oppose Brooks squarely on his isolationist record.

Brasshat Didoes.

BLOODY strife rages the length and breadth of Europe. A new phase of the war is about to burst in Iran. The Far East is a powder keg. But navy brasshats are all atwitter over rival publicity schemes.

The undercover fracas is as hilarious as anything seen on a Gilbert and Sullivan stage.

It began several months ago when Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, chief of the Bureau of Ordnance, conceived the idea of boosting morale in factories filling navy orders by giving public recognition for especially good work. So Admiral Blandy asked James Selvage, former ace Washington newsman, to work out a plan.

Selvage's recommendation was simple, inexpensive and apt. He proposed that the navy's E (for "excellent") now awarded banners to ships with the highest efficiency rating should also be applied to factories, and that factory workers should receive small "E" buttons.

Admiral Blandy liked the plan and adopted it for his bureau. Whereupon Admiral Samuel M. Robinson, chief of the Bureau of Ships, decided that shipyards, too, should be given awards. But instead of adopting the E plan, he asked Albert Lasker, big-gun advertising executive, to devise a new award.

Lasker delegated the job to his son, Edward, who after lengthy cogitation, finally emerged with one of the most elaborate hooplas ever conceived by an advertising agency to hynotize a million dollar client.

The presentation covered 30 pages and called for cash prizes, awards of wrist watches, picking the best plant of the week, month, six months, and so on. The plan had everything in it but a dog show.

Young Lasker's creation immediately raised a furore in navy press circles, where it was pointed out that the cost would run into millions, and would require a staff of several hundred to operate it. Also dishing out cash and other valuable prizes to highly-paid factory workers would bring a storm of protests from the families of selectees now serving their country for $21 a month.

But Admiral Robinson is sticking by the Lasker scheme, and the gentlemen in gold braid now have another weighty problem to keep them in fighting mettle.

Note: Comptroller General Warren Lindsay asked for an informal opinion on the Lasker plan, warned that he would not approve any expenditures for cash prizes.

Capital Chaff.

THERE'S a story going around Washington that Emperor Haile Selassie, after returning triumphant to his people in Ethiopia, sent a cable to Churchill saying, "Now that we've finished the job, what do we do with the tools?" . . . Daily diplomatic reports to the state department from London are so voluminous it takes two hours merely to read them . . . A new annex of the British embassy is just being completed. This is the third addition to the embassy establishment since the war began.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — People, places, things . . . Here we go on the Manhattan merry-go-round . . . It's a show that goes on all the time.

Glenn Miller—he's just back from California, talking about a new orange grove he acquired in a valley somewhere north of Hollywood . . . It has 70 acres . . . He has named the place "Tuxedo Junction" because he bought it on the royalties from the song by that name.

Nicholas Murray Butler — he rides in automobiles, but they don't always call for him at the curb. His chauffeur drives right over the sidewalk, right up to his front door.

Bill Primrose—he's perhaps the foremost viola concert artist in America . . . At the moment he is on his way west, to record records with Heifetz . . . Bill wasn't always a musician. He's a Scot, and an ex-amateur pugilist . . . He has the same reserved seat at the Garden for all the fights throughout the year. He's 34.

JAY BENNER—he heads one of largest matrimonial bureaus in the city . . . Says most men prefer brunets to blonds because they can be sure a brunet is really a brunet . . . His motto (for his agency) is, "Why not shorten the waiting period for life's greatest career" . . . In sum, if you are having trouble finding a wife, Jay can find you one in a jiffy . . . Registration fee: $15.

George K. Arthur — remember him? The comic, the short one, who teamed with the late Carl Dane in the old silent movies . . . I continue to bump into him all the time, almost two or three times a month, coming into and out of hotels and office buildings . . . Under his arm is an inevitable brief case . . . Black leather . . . He solicits advertising. I have never seen him wear a hat . . . He seems melancholy and sad.

John Gunther—I see him almost every day, striding up Sixth avenue, ceiling tall . . . He seems thinner . . . This ex-Chicagoan and globe-trotter was once a newspaperman and then a novelist . . . Then he became a world reporter and covered continents and wars instead of baseball games and ward politics . . . He has a high, quick, jerky voice, but he thinks straight . . . I like to hear him talk.

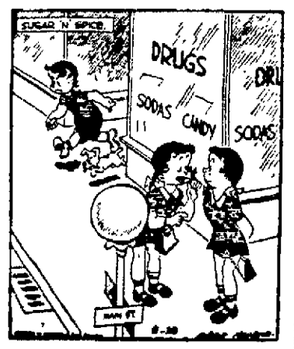
SUBWAY scene—a tall brunet —not bad looking, by subway standards—is jammed against a post in a packed Seventh Avenue Express, reading a book . . . a book entitled "How to Play Tennis."

Cheesecake—the biggest crowd on the RCA building roof is between 4:30 and 6 p. m. . . . The guard says the men (the dirty peeping toms) come up to look through the telescopes at girls who hurry home from work to "sun" for an hour or so on the nearby roofs.

Napua—that's Hawaiian, but in English this dancer is Jenny Wood . . . She's a fine comedienne, teaches hula dancing on the side . . . Her husband is a trumpet player with Sammy Kaye . . . She has been dancing the "Cock-eyed Mayor" in New York for four years, and she is a great favorite . . . She is also an expert swimmer.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT



"If the man at the soda fountain won't trust him, why should I?"

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Joy of Remembering.

How beautiful is memory.
That we would use it more,
To past and old dear dreaming, it
Is ever open door.

But in the hurly-burly of
The present we forget
To savor fine past happenings,
So are our days beset

With living. Firmly closed remains
The portal, easily
Reopened and which holds so much
To know again, to see.

Past is the only home of which
We can be sure, for days
That are and those to come we hold
With but a fleeting phrase.

A Farmer's Diary

An Old Team

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

IN THE PASTURE west of our cornfield, are two light bay horses. It would seem they have retired. Each morning I see them stand together at the fence corner and look down across the valley. Since nights are cooler, they are unmolested by the plague of flies, and during the earlier hours they stand at rest.

The other morning I came by before sunup and noticed how very close they stood, with heads hung low, as if in silent, secret understanding. When they heard my footsteps on the gravel road, they drowsily stretched, put their short ears forward, and turned their interested, dark liquid eyes in my direction. Standing there, rigidly at attention, they appeared much younger than their years. The lower lip, instead of hanging idly down, was taut; the nostrils wide and expectant; the heads held high. Then as if in greeting, each gave a low, soft whinner that made their dark lips quiver, and both stepped forward until their heads were far across the old worn fence.

I went down across the grassy ditch and stood between the outstretched necks, stroked their straggly manes and rubbed the sinewy shoulders. Each moved his head up and down in strong approval of my approaches. I thought I knew just how they felt, and in language that I hoped they understood, I told them so.

They even pushed their breasts against the rails to gain a little more attention. They licked the palms of my hands with soft, broad tongues, and one playfully nipped my finger. As I stroked one broad cool forehead, the other, not to be outdone, put his moist soft muzzle on my cheek and I caressed it too. They made me feel most welcome.

I asked my neighbor how long he had owned that team.

"Oh, a good many years. I always worked 'em double. They're both beyond votin' age, I know. I keep 'em in my barn in winter, and down in pasture all summer. I've had 'em so long I'd feel kinda lost without 'em. There's something about a good old faithful horse, retired and comfortable, that makes a farmer happy."

Next morning I heard him call, from the corner of the field each horse's name and rattle a pan upon a post. He stood, a stooped and kindly figure, no longer young himself—and those two old horses wheeled and cavorted to meet him, imitating the swift and easy gait of their youth.

It was, I thought, a pleasant, touching picture.

VEHICLE TAXES URGED SOLELY FOR ROAD USE

Automobile Association Wants Uniform Law To Protect Roadside Areas.

DETROIT—(U.P.)—More than 20 states are considering constitutional amendments to prevent use of motor vehicle taxes, for anything except road purposes, the American Automobile association reports.

Eleven states have adopted similar amendments "by large majorities" in previous elections, the AAA said.

Road purposes should be interpreted to include administration, construction, reconstruction, maintenance, highway safety and supervision activities, and protection, and development of areas adjoining the right-of-ways, the AAA believes.

The association is seeking to develop legislative programs to protect the nation's roadsides in the interests of health, safety, and appearance.

It suggests a method of roadside "zoning" by state planning commissions or highway commissioners which would authorize establishment of "highway protective strips" not more than 1,000 feet wide on each side of the highway. After public hearings the commission would separate the strips into districts such as residential, roadside service, business, industrial, etc.

The commission would be authorized to regulate location and the uses of buildings and land within the protective strips. Any person aggrieved by such action might appeal to the courts.

Many states also are proposing new systems of license and registration fees. California legislators, for instance, would impose an annual tax of 1¾ per cent of the actual market value of the vehicle, in lieu of all other taxes. Three per cent of the proceeds would go for administration, an unspecified sum to meet five outstanding bond issues, and of the remainder, 40 per cent to counties and cities for traffic law enforcement. 40 per cent to counties and cities for any use whatsoever, and 20 per cent to the general fund.

MELON FISHERS

Motorists Pull Watermelons Out Of Canal In Florida.

FORT MYERS, Fla.—(AP)—Watermelons were less than a dime a dozen for motorists along the Tamiami Trail after a big fruit truck overturned in a roadside canal.

The swift current carried melons several miles and motorists had a merry time fishing them out.

PROTECTS WILD BOARS

RALEIGH, N. C. —(U.P.)— The state conservation and development department claims North Carolina has more wild European boars than any other state. A recent department survey disclosed at least 600 in national forests, state parks and private hunting lands.

Most garden flowers prefer a sandy loam soil that is slightly acid.

IRAN GIVES IN, FIGHTING ENDS IN OIL KINGDOM

New Cabinet Formed; Peace Offensive Reported In Thailand.

claims, Germany had other words to say today about the international situation. The German foreign office diplomatic correspondence used the Iran invasion as a springboard for a new attack on President Roosevelt. It claimed developments in Iran have "definitely ended the fairy tale of Roosevelt as a protector of innocent victims of aggression."

Moscow announced a new victory over the 132nd German division on the west bank of the Dnieper river and said more than 6,000 Nazi soldiers were killed.

Berlin military authorities said the German forces have hammered out new operating bases north and south of Smolensk at the center of the front and that the Germans are expected to launch a new drive to the east in wedge formation.

Dispatches from Vichy described the condition of Pierre Laval, former French vice premier who was wounded yesterday in an attempted assassination, as "satisfactory as possible." Two bullets which struck him were removed. Marcel Deat, an aide of Laval who also was wounded, was reported in serious but not critical condition. Count Fernand De Brinon, Vichy envoy to Paris, charged the shooting was part of a vast Communist "plot."

Declares U. S. Backs British Iran Policy

ANKARA, Turkey — (UP) — United States Ambassador John Van A. MacMurray has advised Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu that the United States supports British policy toward Iran, it was authoritatively reported today, as Turkey sought a quick compromise that would end the Anglo-Russian campaign in Iran.

Well informed quarters asserted that MacMurry had advised Saracoglu of the support of the United States for Britain in a talk during which he asked Saracoglu to outline Turkey's policy.

Baron Franz Von Paper and Octavio DePeppo, the German and Italian ambassadors, were reported to have told Saracoglu that circumstances forced Germany and Italy to stand aside in the Iranian situation, from the military viewpoint at least, as they had in Syria. They were said to have warned Saracoglu of the "menace" involved in the prospective presence of Russian troops on another part of Turkey's frontier.

Sir Hughe Montgomery Knatchbull-Hugessen, the British ambassador, was reported to have told Saracoglu of Britain's desire for a settlement with Iran and to have impressed him with Britain's growing strength in the middle east.

Repeats Bombing Of Nazi Targets

LONDON — (INS) — British planes once more bombed targets in western Germany last night and early today, dropping tons of explosives on the industrial city of Mannheim and other points.

An air ministry announcement said:

"Last night R. A. F. planes carried out a heavy attack on Mannheim and small raids on western Germany and the occupied ports of Boulogne, Ostend and Dunkirk.

"None of our planes is missing."

See Possibility Axis Troops Cross Dnieper

LONDON — (INS) — Possibility that German and Hungarian troops may have crossed the Dnieper river on the Russo-German front "must not be excluded," British military authorities declared today.

It was pointed out that Axis claims of having crossed the river have not been denied by Moscow. There was no confirmation in London of German claims that Velikiye Luki has been captured.

Sailors Join Land Defense of Soviets

MOSCOW — (UP) — Russian sailors, reinforcing the Red army were reported today to have gone into action against the Germans at both the Arctic and Black sea ends of the long Russian-German front.

Naval detachments, which at least once before had engaged in land fighting with the army on the Baltic front, were reported to have joined in a stubborn defnese by landing behind the German lines.

The government newspaper Ivestia reported one of the landings. Although it did not name the sector, the Arctic front obviously was the scene.

The Red army, with its back to the wall in defense of Leningrad and Odessa, was reported fighting stubbornly against concerted German assaults threatening both ends and the center of the long war front.

SUBMITS RESIGNATION

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Henry S. Brainard, city law director since 1939 today submitted his resignation, effective Sept. 18, to Mayor Edward Blythin to become assistant general counsel of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company.

group also claimed that the rival CIO group was attempting to obtain bargaining rights at the Warren plant while representing a small minority of employes.

The CIO union, in a telegram to President Roosevelt and Sidney Hillman of the OPM, requested federal supervision of the Warren plant pending settlement of the dispute involving wage rates as well as bargaining rights.

Meanwhile on the Mansfield labor front, the Nehi Bottling company, 208 West Third street, agreed to sign a two-year contract involving approximately 10 workers with the Truck Drivers local 40, according to Russell Kemp, truckers business representative.

The new contract calls for a union shop, wage increases and vacations with pay.

According to Kemp drivers will receive a base rate of $19 weekly to be increased to $20 the second year; drivers will also receive two cents on each case of the Nehi product delivered and returned.

Other items in the contract are a 48-hour week; a 90-cent hourly rate for skilled help; 55-cent hourly wage for semi-skilled workers, to be raised to 60 cents the second year; and a 35-cent rate for other workers, to be raised to 40 the second year, Kemp said.

Time and a half will be paid for overtime and double time will prevail for Sundays and holidays. The contract also includes vacations with pay, according to Kemp.

Members of the AFL United Brick and Clay Workers, District No. 6 today were picketing the Mansfield Shale Products company, State Route 545, near Mansfield, a union spokesman said.

The pickets are demanding union recognition.

The union yesterday claimed a picket line of 12 workers. A company spokesman said today that the picket line consisted of a lone union representative.

Company spokesmen however would make no comment on the number of workers employed at the company, the number of union employes involved, or information concerning the issue of the dispute.

Ohio Brass officials and union representatives today had no further word concerning the developments in Tuesday's United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers CIO, request for a bargaining rights election at the Mansfield OB which request struck a snag as AFL pattern makers claimed representation at the local plant.

The CIO-AFL petitions, presented to the Cleveland National Labor Relations Board, will be referred to the Washington NLRB for recommendations, according to Richard Niebur, UE representative.

Recommendations by the Washington board would determine whether the election ballot should represent both CIO and AFL unions, Niebur said.

REPORTS SALE OF TAX NOTES

Federal Reserve Bank Say $68,000,000 Sold In State.

CLEVELAND—(UP)—The Fourth District Federal Reserve bank reported today that $68,700,000 worth of federal income tax anticipation notes have been sold in this district since they went on sale Aug. 1.

C. W. Arnold, assistant vice-president of the bank, said the sales were general throughout the district which embraces Ohio, the western part of Pennsylvania, the panhandle of West Virginia and the eastern part of Kentucky.

The notes enable income tax payers to set aside funds for their 1942 levies in advance of March 15, when the first payment falls due. They are on sale at banks throughout the district.

UP 37 PER CENT

Week's Sales Tax Collections Total More Than Million.

COLUMBUS—(UP)—State sales tax collections for the week ending Aug. 16 were 37 per cent above the same week last year, reaching $1,085,741, State Treasurer Don Ebright reported today.

For the year to Aug. 16, collections totaled $37,295,621, a gain of 24 per cent above the $29,330,650 collected in the comparative 1940 period.

Truck Re-Routing Starts In City 4 Years After Law

South Main street, according to the mayor.

Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals announced that stop signs allowing through traffic on South Franklin and South Diamond streets would be changed so that First street traffic would be given the through privilege.

City council passed an ordinance for the truck route on May 4, 1937. Approval of the proposed change was made in the report of the Citizens' committee on traffic last year.

The new state highway markers will label the truck route as 42-A. Boals said that the city would probably erect signs at Park avenue east and South Main street requesting trucks to take the new route.

Mayor Locke said that he had asked council's traffic committee to supply traffic lights for the more dangerous intersections on First street but that none had been granted as yet.

Boals, however, said that a traffic light will be erected at Diamond and First streets as soon as possible. There will not be time to have the new traffic light installed before the new route is used, however, he pointed out.

Because First street is relatively narrow, parking has been restricted to only one side. Yellow curb markings for the restricted parking areas have already been painted.

Locke stated that he would ask the improvement of Hedges and First streets to facilitate the flow of main route traffic. Although the route was primarily designed for use by trucks, it is believed that many private cars will adopt it as the regular Route 42.

Both the mayor and Boals said they believed that the rerouting will relieve the excess flow of traffic around the square.

Seeks Hearing of Court-Martial of V.F.W. Commander

PHILADELPHIA —(INS)— William J. Grace, of Chicago, today appealed to delegates to the 42nd annual encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars to bring the issue of the court-martial of Earl Southard, Illinois department commander, upon the convention floor.

Bitterly criticising the suspension and conviction of the Chicago attorney, Grace issued his statement after repeated efforts to force the question before the encampment had failed.

Southard was found guilty of disloyalty after trial by 10 past state commanders on charges that his activity as secretary of the "Keep America out of war committee was subversive."

Grace, himself a past Illinois department commander, averred that the charges on which Southard's court-martial was ordered were preferred by the "opposition" in the defendant's own post in order to set aside Southard's election as Illinois state leader.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, Aug. 29.

The astral testimonies for this day are for a very conflicting and contradictory state of affairs, with individual stamina, enterprise and determination as well as courage and patience operating as a balance wheel between advertity and progress. State conditions may be suddenly disintegrated, calling for sound judgment as well as quick action in order to avert defeat and loss.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a year in which all results and advantages must depend upon self responsibility, persistent and sound manipulation of perverse and difficult situations. Patience, hard work, quick grasp of frustrating and disintegrating factors may avert devastation, with little or no help from outsiders.

A child born on this day should have many sterling qualities despite some erratic and wavering tendencies and debilitating physical handicaps.

for Maloney (D-Conn), chairman of the inquiry. "Then we want to do what we can to relive, remedy, or correct it."

Maloney told reporters that the investigation—launched with unusual speed—was "not hostile" and senators hoped to learn facts that would "bring relief to the public, and assistance to the government officials engaged in the regulation and distribution of oil."

Only a few hours before the opening of the senate investigation, Price Administrator Leon Henderson took steps intended to keep gasoline prices at reasonable levels by issuing a table of "fair maximum retail service station prices" for gasoline in 40 major cities along the Atlantic seaboard.

"They are the maximum prices which motorists should pay," he declared, but the list was not accompanied by any compulsory price fixing order. Henderson advised motorists to protest vigorously to dealers who attempted to charge higher prices than those listed. The schedule of retail prices included state and federal taxes and was designed to provide dealers a 4-cent margin.

There was a quick reaction from the Associated Gasoline Retailers of Philadelphia, where Henderson listed 18.5 cents as a fair maximum price. The dealers declared they had to have a 5-cent margin, and planned to raise the price from 18 to 19 cents. Reduced gasoline sales, they pointed out, mean smaller sales of lubricating oil, tires, and other filling station items.

Supply Shipment to Russia Thought Topic of Long Talk at White House.

on which the envoy has called on the president in the White House since he presented his credentials last February.

The message from Prince Konoye to President Roosevelt was believed to have dealt with Japan's concern over the shipment of American supplies to Vladivostok.

Whether it contained anything in the nature of a warning that the Japanese empire could not stand idly by and see such supplies as aviation gasoline sent to Russia through the Sea of Japan could not be ascertained immediately.

However, the ambassador, following his conference with Hull yesterday, said that the Japanese nation felt badly over the fact that the United States was sending to Russia the very type of supplies which Japan is denied the opportunity of purchasing in this country.

SET NEW OCEAN SPEED RECORD

Three Transports Beat Old Time On California-Hawaii Flight.

HONOLULU — (INS) — A new California - to - Hawaii commercial plane speed record of 13 hours, 55 minutes was chalked up today for three Douglas DC-3 transports.

The 24-passenger planes were ferried the 2,400-mile distance from Oakland, Cal., by Douglas pilots for delivery to an airline flying between Honolulu and Hilo. Their time was an hour and three minutes better than the old record, set by Pan-American Airways Pilot Steve Bancroft in the Honolulu clipper last July 2.

many, expressed belief that he was out of danger.

The condition of Deat, Laval's chief aide, was more critical.

A bullet which lodged at the base of his thorax caused severe hemorrhages.

Two others shot by the assassin, Paul Collette, 29, at the formal mobilization at the Borgnis-Desbordes barracks at Versailles, outside Paris, of the "French legion" formed to fight Russia, received only minor arm wounds.

They are one Col. Duroy, a legion leader, and a legionnaire named Desset.

Minister of Interior Pierre Pucheu and Fernand de Brinon, chief Vichy envoy to German authorities, aided police in a night-long questioning of Collette in intervals between their visits to Laval.

Both charged that Collette had been the tool of mysterious plotters who sought to foment insurrection among the French people against the Vichy government and the Germans.

Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, 85-year-old chief of state, received constant reports from Paris on the condition of Laval and Deat and measures being taken to intensify the Vichy-German drive against all enemies of his regime.

Laval was wounded three times. One bullet grazed his right arm. A second penetrated his arm. A third entered his right side above the liver and was embedded about one inch beneath the heart.

Clerks of both boards said they probably will send most of the 21-year-olders who passes the examinations to Fort Hayes for induction about Sept. 17. Board 2 has enough older men who are eligible for induction so that it is not expected to call any of the new group to leave next month.

UAW Votes Strike At Bumper Plant

SPRINGFIELD — (INS) — The UAW (CIO) union has voted to strike next Wednesday at the Buckeye Bumper company plant, to enforce demands for a blanket 10 per cent wage increase, Donald Butler, union president, announced today. He did not disclose the vote but said the margin in favor of striking was 17 to 1.

The threatened strike of 500 workers is dependent upon receiving sanction from the union executive board at Detroit. The Buckeye company manufactures auto bumpers and hub caps. No defense orders are involved.

At the truck works of the International Harvester company, A. L. Patton, chairman of the UAW bargaining committee, said he would submit to the company today demands for a wage increase of 10 cents an hour, check-off system and a closed shop for 4,500 workers. The company would have 30 days to accept or reject the proposal.

NAMES GATES TO POST WITH NAVY

President Puts New Worker In Charge of Aeronautics.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Roosevelt today nominated Artemus L. Gates, president of the New York Trust company, to be assistant secretary of the navy for aeronautics.

This post has been vacant for some time, but the president recently appointed an assistant secretary of war in direct charge of the air branch, and today's appointment was designed to balance the services.

Gates had a distinguished record as a naval aviator in the first World war. Joining the naval air arm in 1917, he went overseas with a bombardment group which was working with the British and French. He later commanded the U. S. naval station at Dunkirk.

BLAMES SPLIT IN LABOR FOR MANY STRIKES

Secretary Perkins Charges Unions Use Walkouts Against Each Other.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Looking back over eight years as secretary of labor, Frances Perkins blames the split between the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations for the failure of collective bargaining to settle more disputes without strikes.

Writing in the September issue of Fortune magazine, the nation's first woman cabinet officer described the AFL-CIO schism as "largely an internal fight for control," and declares that "a reunion could be made tomorrow without ugly scars of hatred and rancor between the wage earners in each group."

"I have been called incompetent (and worse) because I have not prevented strikes," Miss Perkins writes, "and I am aware that there is a theory that if I were a two-fisted male I should be able to stop strikes.

"The accusation that I am a woman is incontrovertible. As for being two-fisted, I'm sure that it is unrealistic and lacking in human knowledge to believe that getting tough or cracking down on working people would make things better." "There have been two-fisted males in this office and strikes were never prevented, because no secretary of labor has ever had the authority or the power directly to stop strikes, and it is doubtful if any clear thinking citizen would be willing to give to any agency of government the absolute right and power to interfere with other citizens."

"The only power I have," she declares, "is to act as labor's spokesman in the government."

She says that collective bargaining, carried on with mutual responsibility and intention to conclude a bargain, is a constructive process, and labor's efforts to organize are not disorder.

"Association brings obligations and standards and mutual rights," she adds, "as much to carpenters and automobile workers as to doctors and lawyers and manufacturers.

"If it were not for the division in the labor movement itself, which often results in one faction or the other calling a strike simply to prevent an election it is afraid of losing, I believe that collective bargaining by this time would have made greater headway in establishing orderly methods of settling disputes without strikes in organized industries.

"The AFL-CIO split was largely an internal fight for control, in which the idea of vertical unions was only a minor issue. At all times I have tried to bring the two factions together, always appointing representatives of both groups to committees and advisory boards.

"I have urged John Lewis (former head of the CIO) over and over again to make peace with the AFL—and he has said over and over again that he expected to make peace 'when the right time comes.'

"The president wrote Mr. Lewis a letter asking him to make peace. That irked Mr. Lewis. It was after that that he called me 'woozy in the head.' I received letters and telegrams from labor organizations (both AFL and CIO) asking me to keep trying to make peace."

"People often ask me how I feel about strikes in defense industries," Miss Perkins goes on. "I don't 'feel' about them, any more than a doctor 'feels' about an operation while he's performing it.

"I think it would be desirable to have no strikes in defense industries; I should like to have all labor-management disputes settled by conference and agreement without resort to stoppage of work, but I cannot make pronouncements damning one side or the other during an ordinary strike."

Declaring there is no evidence that a union has called a strike for the purpose of defeating or slowing down the defense program, she says she believes jurisdictional strikes are always unfortunate and, in defense industries, unjustifiable; "and so in reality are those for domination between the AFL and the CIO."

CORN DODGER DOES COMEBACK

Grist Mills In Arkansas Are Running Overtime.

PARAGOULD, Ark.—(AP)—Grist mills of this vicinity are running overtime since a farm club study of cornmeal's food values revived the popularity of the old fashioned corn dodger, or corn bread.

"Home ground cornmeal," says Mrs. Geraldine Orrell, county home agent, "is a whole-grain product rich in minerals and vitamins. When milk, eggs and fat are used in making the bread, we have a nutritious and protective food, one of the simplest to prepare."

Hotel menus show corn bread regularly now, and the city's civic clubs eat it at their weekly luncheons.

SPRING TO SEE FORD'S BOMBER PLANT RUNNING

Auto Magnate Builds Factory For Planes on Same Lines As Automobile Plant.

By RUSSELL FULLER
(Central Press Correspondent)

YPSILANTI, Mich. — Most of Henry Ford's undertakings have been conducted along a vast scale.

His River Rouge automobile factory in Dearborn is reputed to be the largest single industrial unit in the world.

His latest venture, a vital contribution to national defense, is no departure from his rule that if something is going to be done it might just as well be done in a big way.

On what used to be a huge vacant field at nearby Willow Run there is arising the world's largest airplane factory. The factory is being built by the Ford Motor company for the actual production of big bombers.

The factory itself, an L-shaped structure, will cost $47,000,000. On the surrounding grounds will be a spacious airport. The plant also includes hangars, a machine shop and a mile-long assembly building. It is estimated that the total floor space, including the hangars, will be nearly 3,700,000 square feet. Factory floor area alone will be 2,547,000 square feet.

Bombers for Democracies.

The Willow Run factory will produce bombers for the United States and Great Britain. In addition to the bombers, subassemblies for planes will be produced.

The bombers themselves will be snub-nosed, four-engine Consolidated B-24D jobs with tremendous cruising ranges.

The factory and its accessory setups will not be completed until sometime during the spring of 1942. Of course, the government is well aware that a lot of things can happen between now and the spring of 1942. But, nevertheless, officials in Washington are eyeing the Willow Run plant with more than casual interest.

In the first place, it will prove quite definitely that the automobile industry is capable of producing complete airplanes instead of just certain aircraft parts.

First to Build Airplanes.

Furthermore, it will mark another first in so far as Ford is concerned as he will be the first automobile manufacturer to turn out completed airplanes.

Henry Ford himself dislikes war, a fact he reiterated in a recent interview. It is significant to note, however, that the Ford company has defense contracts running into the millions of dollars. This includes the bomber contract, contracts for aircraft engines, for combat cars, for army trucks and a lot of other things.

Peace, But . . .

All of which goes to prove that while Henry Ford as a man may look with disfavor upon fighting between the various nations, he wants to be certain that if this country does become embroiled, materials for participation will be of the best and of sufficient quantity.

Ford Looks Giant Plant Over

Henry Ford inspects building progress in person.

Behind Henry Ford is a portion of the huge $47,000,000 factory the automobile magnate is building to turn out long range bombing planes. The factory is scheduled to be in operation in the spring.

Plan Study of Lead Poisoning In Defense Work

CHICAGO—(INS)—Methods of fighting the dangers of poisoning involved in the national defense program will be studied during the summer quarter at the University of Chicago.

The new course, "Toxicology and National Defense," is designed to equip doctors and chemists with methods of dealing with special hazards resulting from increased industrial production in the defense program, according to Dr. Eugene M. K. Geiling, professor and chairman of the university's department of pharmacology.

Possibilities of lead and gas poisoning are likely to increase with the acceleration of industrial production and the augmented use of lead in steel manufacture, Dr. Geiling pointed out. Increased production of explosives and other war materials also has created additional hazards, he said.

The course is being offered as part of the university's contribution to the preparedness program.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet—you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and pepless.

Low blood count oft times may mean you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles when they have been weakened by simple anemia. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr Williams Pink Pills today. 49c.

EMPLOY FOUR NEW TEACHERS AT LUCAS HIGH

Special Meeting of Staff to Be Held at 9:30 a. m. Labor Day.

LUCAS — Four new instructors will be found on the faculty when students of the Lucas village schools report for their first classes on Sept. 2, according to Supt. V. L. Gilliland.

A meeting of the teaching staff will be held at Lucas at 9:30 a. m. Labor day, it was announced by the superintendent.

Heading the list of new instructors will be Lawrence L. Deckrosh, formerly of Holland, recently employed as athletic coach, who will direct science courses.

Included among other new members of the Lucas faculty will be Miss Phyllis Welker, teacher in vocational home economics, Miss Laura Taylor, commercial department instructor, and a sixth grade teacher still to be named.

The resignation of Evan D. Jones as sixth grade teacher was received recently by the Lucas board of education. He has accepted another teaching position in the southern part of the state.

Continuing in the position in which he has earned the record for one of the longest termed services in the state, W. S. Barger will again be in charge of vocational agriculture and shop training courses.

Donald Parfitt will continue as music and public speaking instructor. Miss Esther Price will return to teach the history, English and language courses, while Glenn Mowers will preside over the social sciences.

In the elementary school Miss Mary Tucker will continue in the fifth grade, Miss Ina Weatherbee in the combined third and fourth, Mrs. Jennie Andrews in a combined second and third and Miss Mamie Duncan in the first.

Miss Maxine Mitchell has been employed as secretary in the Lucas school office.

An increase in the enrollment for the coming year over that of the past term is expected, according to Supt. Gilliland.

Registrations for the coming school year were completed before the close of school last spring, except for students who have moved into the district during the summer.

GETS PERMIT TO GIVE TRAINING

Richland Red Cross To Provide Instruction In First Aid.

Richland county chapter of the Red Cross today became the fifth chapter in the state to receive authorization from national headquarters to train instructors in first aid and water safety, Miss Lenore Van Gundia, executive secretary, announced today.

Under the new set-up, the work of the first aid and water safety director, Bernard C. Hardy, will be more extensive and the chapter can enlarge its program along those lines, according to Miss Van Gundia.

Qualifications of the safety director which placed Mansfield on a par with the chapters located in Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Dayton, included staff work at a national aquatic school and fullfilment of other national headquarters requirements.

CANDLELIGHT SERVICE HELD ON WEDNESDAY

Formal Ceremony Held At St. John's Church For Miss Naomi Stutz of This City and William S. Edwards of Columbus.

THE St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church was the scene of a wedding, of much charm and dignity, solemnized Wednesday evening at half after seven o'clock, when Miss Naomi Mildred Stutz became the bride of William Surdival Edwards of Columbus. The single ring vows were exchanged in the presence of a group of close friends and relatives before a candlelit background.

In a dainty formal gown of Heather pink taffeta over a full crinoline petticoat, the bride approached the altar on the arm of her godfather and uncle, George Ost of Cleveland. The nuptials celebrated the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ost.

Miss Stutz' gown was fashioned with a short train and the style was of the bouffant type. Velvet reveres trimmed the V-neckline and the sleeves were bracelet length. Her finger tip length matching illusion veil was worn virgin style and held in place by gardenias at the temples. She carried a Colonial bouquet composed of white pompons, gardenias and baby breath and tied with pink velvet streamers.

Miss Lella Graeff of Osbourne, Missouri, who is a teacher at the Country Day school here, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a formal frock of the same material and color as the bride's gown. It was fashioned Princess style and made with a sweetheart neckline, short puffed sleeves and the full taffeta skirt was trimmed with rows of puffing which stood out over the crinoline underskirt. On her dark hair she wore a pert little Mary of Scot velvet bonnet of California wine shade, trimmed with matching ostrich tips and velvet streamers. Her Colonial bouquet was composed of celosia and lavendar and white pompons and pink and blue delphinium.

Groom's Attendants.

Harry Apple of Columbus served Mr. Edwards as best man. Ushering the guests to their pews were Paul Sparks of Indianapolis, Ind., George Tuttle of Findlay and Kenneth Stutz of Mansfield, brother of the bride.

The altar was beautiful in the soft glow of candlelight which delicately brought out the color of the gladioli in the two large beauty baskets. Palms, ferns and other greenery formed the background for the flowers and seven-branch candelabra. Two tall cathedral candles were placed in the back of the chancel. Preceding the service nuptial music was played by Mrs. Helen Heston, organist, and a sister of the bride, Mrs. Robert Brook, a sorority sister of Miss Stutz, sang several selections.

As the last strains of the wedding march were heard Rev. Harold Lentz, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church in Ashland, and a close friend of the couple, read the vows for the young people to repeat.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Louise Stutz wore a navy blue silk sheer with pink trim. Her corsage was of Briarcliffe roses and delphinium. Mrs. Edwards was attired in a navy blue sheer with light blue accessories. Her corsage was of the same flowers as Mrs. Stutz'.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple received their wedding guests at the Stutz home. Refreshments were served buffet style from a long table attractively appointed and centered with a tiered wedding cake. Miss Jeanne Edwards of Columbus, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Ost, aunt of the bride, presided at the serving table.

Leave For South.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Edwards left for a motor trip through the southern states. For traveling the bride wore a Hunter green velveteen suit with brown accessories.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Louise Stutz, 451 Newman street, and Mr. Edwards' parents are Mr and Mrs. W J Edwards, 115 Crestview road, Columbus. Mrs. Edwards was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and is president of the Rho chapter, Chi Sigma sorority. She has been employed as secretary to the principal at the John Simpson Junior high school and during the summer months secretary to the principal of Columbia university's demonstration high school in New York City.

Mr. Edwards was graduated from Delphos high school and Ohio State university. He is a member of the Lambda Chi fraternity and Epsilon Pi Tau. During the past school year he served as instructor of industrial arts at the John Simpson Junior high school. He recently accepted a position as engineer with the Curtiss-Wright Aircraft corporation in Columbus.

After Sept. 15 the young couple will be at home at 25 Tulane drive, Columbus. Before moving to her new home Mrs. Edwards will return to Mansfield where she will be feted with several nuptial parties by her friends.

Out-of-town guests in attendance for the nuptials last evening were from Ashland, Indianapolis, Findlay, Columbus, Cleveland and Youngstown.

Mansfield Garden Club Committee Fetes Kiddies

By OLIVE GRESMER

IT WAS a gala day for the boys and girls of the Children's Home when they were given their annual picnic party at the Glenn Vinson home, Glenleigh Farms, Wednesday afternoon. Hostesses for the occasion were the members of the Children's Home committee of the Mansfield Garden club who each year treat these children with a supper and outing.

Forty-four youngsters of all ages romped and played on the wide expanse of lawn on the lovely Vinson estate. Games, horseback riding and sight-seeing were some of the diversions offered and each child enjoyed the party according to his own whim. At the supper hour a bountiful buffet supper was served on the lawn with hamburgers, baked beans, potato salad and many other goodies being served, and eaten with gusto.

More than seven years ago the Mansfield Garden club members voted to help these children with gardens which were alloted to them at the grounds of the Richland County Home. Each succeeding year has brought better gardens and aroused more interest among the youngsters. The committee composed of Mrs. Leo C. Perl, chairman of the boys' group, Mrs. Glen Vinson and Mrs. John Hattery, and Mrs. Milton Doolittle, for the girls, assisted by Mrs Charles Schroer and Miss Lillian Dickson, have done much to stimulate interest in horticulture among the children.

Committee members make periodical trips to the Home to view the progress of the gardens and supervise their care. Seeds and plants are purchased early in the year and throughout the spring instructions are given on the cultivation.

This Junior Garden group is classed as a 4-H club and participates in the Richland county fair each year. Last year their flowers were rated as among the best in the competition.

There are 22 gardens at the Home and although they are not large, averaging about 20 feet square, they are really something to behold. The children raise all kinds of annuals, most of them being gladioli, zinnias and marigolds. The ground is plowed each year thus necessitating the growing of the annuals.

General supervision is under Mrs. Maude Reed, boys' governess, and Mrs. Carrie Forrest, governess for the girls at the Richland County Home.

Mrs. Perl, who has been intensely interested in this civic work for many years, said, "It is truly gratifying to see the good this work accomplishes."

"Sometimes we all become a little discouraged, and around the first of July we feel as though we'll have nothing, but we always do and the Garden club members are really proud of the children. By some coincidence several of the boys have tomato plants in their flower gardens, but they're so nice that we just decided to leave them there. There may be several bushel of tomatoes from the plants," said Mrs. Perl.

Mrs. Reed explained that the day before the fair the children pick their flowers and sort them for bouquets. Then the first day of the fair they arrange them (and quite artistically at that) and display them in the 4-H classes. The children having gardens of their own range in age from 10 to 15 years. They are anxiously waiting for the decisions from the county fair, held last week.

Larkspur Club Welcomes Members

Four new members, Mrs. Sadie Adams, Mrs. Mabel Ricker, Mrs. Janet Hamilton and Mrs. Ima Ulmer, were welcomed to the club. Games were played and prizes won by Mrs. Coleman, Mrs. Ricker and Mrs. Clara Johns. Luncheon was served at small tables decorated with garden flowers. Mrs. Regina Gresser, West Fourth street, will entertain the club at her home Sept. 10.

MISS DOROTHY LEACH TO WED MR. HOFFMAN

Nuptial Date and Place Announced Wednesday Evening at Party at the Howard Leach Home to Tell of Ceremony on Sept. 26.

ANOTHER name was added Wednesday evening to the increasing list of brides for September. Miss Dorothy Leach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Leach, 248 Harker street, has chosen Friday, Sept. 26, as the date of her marriage to William F. Hoffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Hoffman, 107 Wolfe avenue. The informal service will be held at 7:30 o'clock at the St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church with open church being observed.

Announcement was made of the coming nuptials at a party held last evening at the Leach home. Twelve guests were present and enjoyed the diversions of contests and games. Prizes were presented to Miss Kathryn Landfair, Mrs. Richard Herring and Mrs. Thomas Posa, jr. Later a buffet luncheon was served. Flowers in the pastel colors formed a pretty bouquet for the centerpiece, and tall blue lighted tapers illuminated the scene. All appointments were in rose and blue. The guests learned of the date of the wedding when they opened their napkins on which the information was printed.

Miss Margaret Bigler, Crestline, and Miss Rosalie Lantz of Shelby, were the out-of-town guests in attendance.

Miss Leach has selected Miss Marguerite Boyer as her maid of honor and Mrs. C. Zeiher of Sandusky, a cousin of the bridegroom-to-be, will serve as best man. Miss Leach and Mr. Hoffman are both graduates of the Mansfield Senior high school. She is employed at the Citizens' National Bank and Trust company and Mr. Huffman at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Moose War Relief Committee Gives Garden Party

Mrs. Alice Mast, chairman of the War Relief committee of the Women of the Moose, and members of the committee held a garden party Wednesday evening at the Mast home on West Fifth street. Cards and bingo were diversions of the evening. Bingo prize was won by Mrs. Elmer Bletz and Mrs. Dale Uhlich was presented the door prize of the evening. Individual table prizes were also given.

Little Carol Wagner presented two xylophone solos and several vocal selections were offered by Janet, Joan and John Brandt. Mrs. Nannie Lowman, who celebrated her 27th year as a member of the Women of the Moose Wednesday, gave a reading, "The First Day of School." Small nosegays were presented to all as favors. Luncheon was served at small tables decorated with patriotic appointments. Mrs. Mary Bookman, 174 East Fourth street, will entertain members of the committee at her home Sept. 10.

Sept. 24 Chosen For Wedding Date For Miss Landis

Sept. 24 is the date for the wedding of Miss Anna Mae Landis of Shiloh and Rudy Ebinger of Lorain, according to announcement made last evening at a party at the H. E. Frome home, Stewart Lane. The young couple will repeat their nuptial vows before the altar of the St. Joseph's Catholic church in Plymouth.

Mrs. Frome, assisted by her mother-in-law, Mrs. E. J. Frome, entertained a group of Miss Landis' friends Wednesday with a luncheon at 1 o'clock followed by an afternoon of games. Twelve were present and were served the first course at small tables centered with bouquets of pink roses. The remainder of the luncheon was served at one long table lighted only by six tall white tapers. A bouquet of white snapdragons centered the board. At the bride-elect's place was a miniature bride and bridegroom and the other guests received dainty favors in the pink and white color scheme.

Prizes for the diversion were won by Miss Miriam McBride, Mrs. R. A. McBride, both of Shiloh, Mrs. Emma Landis and Mrs. Marie Marvin of Plymouth, and Mrs. Collette Shafer of Shelby. They presented these gifts, which were kitchen articles, to the honoree. Later the guests surprised Miss Landis with a shower of miscellaneous gifts.

Just one thing about color. When fabric contrast is important, the color matches. That is to say, the black crepe dress is trimmed with black velvet, and not contrasting colored velvet. The brown wool is contrasted with brown satin, etc. And appropos of brown, rumor has it that this will be one of our most popular fall colors, especially canteen brown — the deep, dark shade shown in the new Celanese fabrics.

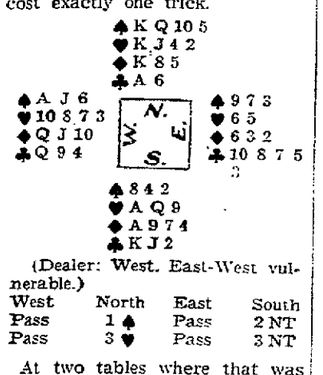
TRACING LOST TRICKS

DUPLICATE is an amazing revealer of the difference in tactics by declarers in the same contract. Rubber addicts often must remain ignorant of their deficiencies, whereas devotees of the other and more scientific game have a capital chance to find out just what is the matter with their play, so they may erase one by one the weaknesses which cost them hundreds of tricks and dozens of missed games and slams in the span of a year. Where one pair made several more tricks than another in duplicate, often it can be seen how each playing error cost exactly one trick.



(Dealer: West. East-West vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 ♥	Pass	3 NT

At two tables where that was the contract, West led his heart 3. A very expert declarer reasoned at once that West, probably having led a four-card suit, the second one bid by the eventual dummy, he probably had most of the few missing high cards as re-entries, so decided to govern himself accordingly. He won that with the heart A, led the spade 2 toward his honors, the Q winning, returned with the heart Q and led the spade 4. West taking the A and firing back his diamond Q, which marked the J and probably the 10 with him.

Then this South "went to town." He took that with dummy's K, scored the heart K and J and the spade Q, then led the good spade 10, discarding his own diamond 9. He had West in a squeeze. With the diamond J-10, if he threw one of these South would then lead the diamond 5 to the A, dropping the J, and finish with the club K, club A and diamond 8. West, instead, tossed off his club 4, so the declarer took in the diamond A, club A, club K dropping the Q, and the club J. So he made an unbid 6-No Trumps.

The other South, after the heart lead to the A, took the Q, K and J of the suit, discarding a diamond, then led the spade K to build a ninth trick for himself. West won with the A and returned the diamond Q. The K won, the spade was cashed, setting up West's J, the club A won, the J finessed to the K, whereupon West cashed his spade J. The club 9 came back to the K. South took his diamond A then for his ninth trick, being happy to now have his game. He had stripped the dummy of entries, so could not use the thirteenth spade, but had to give the opponents their fourth trick with his diamond 9 to the J.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Did you get a chance to examine the papers on the table while he was gone?" I asked, although I was pretty sure what her answer would be.

"I didn't even bat an eye at 'em," she said, and I nodded approvingly. "You see, I didn't know who in the room might not be on the watch, ready to pass some word to Steve. I'd been lucky to get three of the sheets tucked away.

"I don't think I moved a finger while he was gone," she said. "I just sat with one hand held firmly on the pile of papers, while the other hand dabbed at my eyes occasionally. I didn't want to overact the grief thing. I just let the eyes stay a bit dewey while I said anxiously:

"'Oh! Steve don't tell me you didn't find them! I feel so to blame. And yet the wind took them right out of my hand. You see, I couldn't help it'."

"'You couldn't, Baby,' he said. Wouldn't you know he'd call a gal 'Baby?' I'm not blaming you. I'm blaming myself.'

"'Were they so very important Steve?' I asked, with so innocent a look that I wondered if I were over-doing it.

"But it was evidently my day to click. There wasn't a bit of suspicion in his eyes as he looked at me.

"'Quite important,' he said, 'but they didn't concern me. They belonged to somebody else. Now, if you'll excuse me, I'll look these over and see if I can find out what's missing. I think he has an index on one sheet.'

Steve Badly Upset.

"He was trying terribly hard to be nonchalant, but I could see he was all steamed up inside.

"'Two of them won't matter,' he said, and I knew he was speaking to himself. 'They're blank paper. And perhaps my friend can remember what was on the other one. They were trade symbols. Nobody but himself or somebody he'd told about them could understand them, anyway.'

"I had a feeling that he'd been running off the whole spiel for my benefit. He didn't suspect me of having the papers; I was sure of that."

"If he had suspected, I'm afraid it would have been very bad for you," I said quietly.

Make Mary Jittery.

"Are you telling me?" she countered. "As it was, I was jittery every step of the way out of that place, imagining I could hear those crumpled papers rustle."

"It's a wonder they didn't," I said.

"The eighth wonder," she agreed. "But they were perfect ladies, and when I got to my dressing room and locked the door, I smoothed them out, folded them in as tight compass as I could, and sewed them into a perfumed sachet that I sewed to my slip. Then, the first chance I got when Noel wasn't around, I took the sachet, papers and all, and locked it away in my strong box. But I brought it over here tonight, not with the book, but sewed to my slip again. Have you a pair of scissors handy?"

I took a pair from my bag, and she pulled out the top edge of her slip, snipped the stitches which held the sachet, and with a deep sigh, as of relief, laid the scented bit in my hand.

"If I'm not glad to get rid of that!" she said. "Someway, I can't help feeling that it is of the utmost importance.

"What's the matter, Auntie Madge?" she asked, as I spread out the papers from the sachet, which had ripped at the same time as the slip. "You look as if you were seeing a ghost."

ORE SLEUTHING GIVES DEFENSE VITAL METALS

Bureau of Mines Reports Amazing Progress In Search.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— U. S. Bureau of Mines officials report that a corps of 500 technicians and engineers is making "unhoped for" progress in the nationwide search for new sources of strategic metals and minerals needed in defense production.

In less than two years of exploratory work, they said, the experts not only have made detailed surveys of known mineral reserves but have discovered as well numerous new deposits of some of the most essential metals for the defense program.

Much of the exploratory work has dealt with deposits of antimony, chromite, manganese, mercury, nickel, tin and tungsten found chiefly in Arizona, Arkansas, California, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Virginia and Washington.

Officials emphasized that the chief purpose of the nationwide study was to grade known metal reserves so plans for processing sub-commercial grade ores could be made in advance of more pressing needs.

But in several instances the work of the engineers was marked by the discovery of unsuspected ore deposits.

One of the most important of the chance discoveries was made in the Yellow Pine District of Central Idaho, where an extensive deposit of scheeliet of high commercial value was found in the course of testing low-grade antimony.

Sceelite is a source of tungsten, so important a metal in defense that it has been placed under full priority control by the Office of Production Management. Tungsten-content steel is used almost exclusively in construction of machine tools because it retains its cutting qualities under extreme temperatures.

The survey of the low-grade antimony in the Idaho field was taken solely as a means of determining the amount available, but in its midst the engineers discovered one strata containing more than 50 per cent metallic antimony—more than valuable enough for ordinary commercial use. Antimony is needed in making bearings and in hardening the lead in bullets and high caliber rifle shells.

Exploratory work in chromite deposits in Oregon and Montana assured the bureau that the nation's reserve of this metal, needed in making durable and rustless alloys, was far greater than previously realized.

The engineers reported that great supplies of manganese, indispensable in smelting iron ore, were found in Nevada, Utah, Arizona, Arkansas, California, New Mexico, Washington, Montana and Colorado. Most of the deposits, they said, were far below commercial grade, but could be used in event regular sources are depleted.

Surface exploration in the Bottle Creek district of Nevada resulted in the discovery of a mercury deposit of commercial grade. The bureau said work was under way on mercury properties at Coso Hot Springs, Cal., and in Pike county, Ark., although in neither place were operations considered sufficiently advanced to permit conclusions.

NEW PROCESS

Finds Hormone Spray Yields Seedless Fruit.

NEW LONDON, Conn.—(U.P.)—The Summer Institute for Hormone Investigation at Connecticut College has announced a process for growing seedless fruit by spraying blossoms with a hormone-like substance.

Fruit blossoms sprayed with the hormones before pollination were found to produce seedless fruit, and later spraying prevented pre-harvest drop of the fruit.

The spray may be applied simultaneously with an insecticide. Tomatoes, raspberries, blackberries, cherries, grapes and plums are among the fruits which may be produced without seeds.

When information gathered from these experiments was applied to horticulture, it was found possible not only to produce seedless fruit and prevent pre-harvest drop but also to root from slips plants hitherto impossible to root in this way.

Mail Continues To Bolster Tax Receipts Here

With every mail delivery to the courthouse still producing additional real estate tax receipts, collections had mounted to nearly $625,000 today, County Treasurer John E. Kolb's figures showed.

The tax books closed a week ago, but mail payments continue to come in and not all the mail that arrived last week has been handled.

Receipts turned in by collectors in Shelby, Plymouth, and other county towns also helped to boost the total after the books closed officially.

It is expected that the collection for the last half of the year will produce close to $650,000 when the receipts are all tabulated to make it one of the best for the second-half period in several years.

Growing girls need plenty of proteins and fats for body-building and vitality maintenance.

Reveals Indians Were Expert At Dice Shooting

BERKELEY, Calif. —(INS)— The noble red men, usually considered the innocent victim of the white man's vices, could have taught his conqueror some interesting variations on one of them—the ancient art of craps shooting.

That is one of the facts unearthed by Dr. Julian H. Steward, of the University of California, in research among the Shoshone Indians of Nevada.

The Shoshones originated their own dice games played with sticks instead of cubes, Dr. Steward found.

A refinement in craps shooting was allocation of certain games to men and the restriction of other and presumably more ladylike games to the women of the tribe.

IGNORES 3 ON PENSION POST

State Declines to Name Any Of Trio Certified For Manager's Job.

Ignoring three recommendations of the county Republican central committee for the county aid for aged manager's post left vacant by the death of David S. Ireland last month, Tom McCaw, head of the state division, had informed the committee today that the new manager will be named from a civil service eligible list.

Examinations for the post probably will be held in October, McCaw said. Until the new manager is named, it is expected that Howard R. Neuman will continue as acting manager.

Neuman was appointed by McCaw soon after Mr. Ireland's death.

The G. O. P. committee, however, may get a chance to recommend an applicant from the civil service list this fall.

The committee endorsed three applicants from a list of 14 on Aug. 2. They were C. L. Shoup, Plymouth, and John C. Friday, Mansfield, former investigators for the division, and Ray Hines, Mansfield sewer inspector.

STORK MAKES WORK FOR COP

Patrolman Aids In Delivery of Baby In Emergency.

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—"All in the day's work" was the midwifery job of Patrolmen R. E. Loid and Kenneth Smith when a son was born to Mrs. Robert L. Cox.

Answering an emergency call, the officers found the Cox home dark because of a power failure and the father wringing his hands because the doctor had not arrived.

Patrolman Loid, who previously had aided in the delivery of seven babies, took charge with the aid of a flashlight.

Later, at a hospital where the mother and baby were taken, hospital attaches said both were in fine condition and praised the officer's work.

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON—We are soon to have a new lease-lend bill of an undisclosed amount estimated at from five to eight billion dollars to add to the old one of eight billions, of which we haven't yet begun to spend any considerable fraction. Add to these a tremendous naval, marine and military expenditure, not all yet appropriated for, but easily 25 billions.

Johnson

On top of this add whatever it is that Jesse Jones is going to do for Russia. He is not going to "lease-lend" them equipment—only "lend" them—not equipment—but money. What's the difference? His authority to do this is apparently practically unlimited and, if that were not so, the suave, shrewd Jesse could escape, or lift whatever limit there may be.

To what does all this add up? I don't know and nobody seems to care. If anyone did care, it wouldn't do any good. The figures approach infinity so closely that the finite mind can't comprehend them. But it is usually said that 50 billions of new spending is an underestimate and 100 billions of federal debt a certainty—perhaps much more.

I think few will argue that this hundred billion or more of federal debt, added to collosal public debts of states, cities and counties can ever be repaid. If so much is ever incurred it is bound to be repudiated, not by a forthright refusal to pay, but devices that governments have to do such things—devaluation of the currency, permitting the value of government bonds to decline and making this interest-bearing paper redeemable at par in non-interest-bearing paper currency and so forth.

It is a gloomy, terrible prospect for the savings, the wages, the salaries and social-security and other pensions and the insurance policies of the poor—gloomy, but not exaggerated.

That, however, isn't half the picture of the pinch to come. Dollars are merely poker-chips for something more substantial—for the production of things that people must consume or have for the business of mere existence—for food, shelter, clothing and transportation—"enough to keep out hunger, thirst and cold."

If the government begins, by such spending, to take so large a production of all these things, it is becoming clearer daily that there is not going to be left for our civil population enough of some of them for daily living.

There must be a limit somewhere — some balance of accounts between what we can afford to broadcast over the surface of the globe and what, as a minimum, we must keep at home. Who is striking that account? Who is making that balance?

It is also becoming clearer daily that is the reason why, at this relatively early stage, some civilian supplies are entirely cut off and others seriously threatened. It was because, even on the modest program so far attained, nobody had computed and planned what these grandiose figures in dollars by the billions and production in millions of tons meant when converted into materials.

Now the programs and promises of dollars by the billions and tonnage by the millions has been multiplied, on paper, many times and still nobody has translated it into quantities of materials or made any attempt to balance the scant supply against the more necessitous needs—including, and never forget that it must be included, at least a subsistence ration for our people.

We talk of taxes as a burden. At least there is some pretense of equality of burdens in taxes—some little regard for the capacity of the sources of them. But who regards what an unplanned material program may do actually to wipe out the business of millions of small operators, the income of their employes and to impose on every home burdens of want and hardship in comparison with which the irritation of taxes would be but as a fly-bite to the sting of a cobra?

HUNT NEW WAYS TO GET FUNDS FOR DEFENSE

Senate Committeemen Seeking Means to Boost Tax Bill To $4,000,000,000.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—With defense expenditures soaring, the senate finance committee today hunted new sources of revenue to boost the new tax bill beyond the original goal of $3,500,000,000.

A special sub-committee, working with treasury and congressional tax experts, is slated to lay before the committee possible new sources of revenue today, while the treasury is to make its deloyed recommendation for hiking the excess profits tax on corporations.

Majority Leader Barkley is said to be taking the lead in the effort to find acceptable taxes to boost the tax bill closer to $4,000,000,000.

Increased levies on beer, cigarets and selected luxury taxes are to be considered before the big tax bill is finally whipped into shape for action next week.

"There is general agreement to try and find legitimate sources of revenue to raise the bill to $4,000,000,000," said Sen. Herring (D. Iowa).

With the excess profits tax, as approved by the house, estimated to take $1,198,000,000 from profits of corporations in addition to other taxes, the treasury is expected to recommend an increase in rates. Top bracket in the excess profits house proposal is 60 per cent.

Sen. Brown (D. Mich.), advocate of selected luxury taxes and Sen. Danaher (R. Conn.), worked with experts as a special subcommittee to seek new sources of revenue. Political lines were obliterated in the committee.

The committee having eliminated the house-approved tax on sale of broadcasting time, Sen. George (D. Ga.), chairman, announced that a franchise tax may be substituted.

The committee approved many excise taxes previously adopted by the house, some of them with modifications.

The house voted for a $25 annual tax on coin or slot machines. The senate committee recommended a $10 tax on non-gambling machines, and a $200 tax on gambling machines.

Up and Down the Street

Frank Beverstock, secretary of the Richland County Auto club, may be familiar with speeding when it pertains to automobiles but he is not anxious at all to learn about speed in airplanes. When Beverstock expressed the wish to attend the annual reunion of the old "Eighth Ohio" of the Spanish American war in Columbus next week, Police Capt. Tom Bell offered to have a friend fly him down. Several visitors in his office were surprised to hear the secretary break out with "No, no, forget about the whole matter."

The Maxwalton farm south of Mansfield, which makes a habit of winning prizes at state fairs, took two more awards today with their Shorthorn cattle entries at the Ohio state fair. A bull from the Maxwalton farm won first in the junior champion bull classification, while another won second in the grand champion bull competition. Another winner in this section was Walter W. Crum of Willard whose sheep entry was adjudged the grand champion in the Anglo-Nubian doe classification.

Two or three small boys have been playing hide-and-seek with the county commissioners around the courthouse elevator shaft and the commissioners are getting pretty tired of the "game." Slipping into the building, the boys ride the automatic elevator just for the fun of it, and the commissioners have been trying to catch them in the car. One of the boys hauls his dog up and down because the animal seems to like it.

Women of the Colony club, composed of newcomers to the city, today relieved Richland county chapter of the Red Cross of one assignment in the quota of sewed and knitted garments for overseas relief. The group will make 100 Toddlers' Packs each containing 12 infant garments, three of them knitted. Making of the 1,200 items which comprise the entire allotment will be started next Wednesday night, according to Mrs. J. N. Ritter, Colony club Red Cross chairman.

CONFESSES TO CRIME CAREER AFTER PAROLE

37-Year-Year-Old Negro Says He Attempted 3 Robberies In One Month.

(By United Press)

TOLEDO—A confession by an ex-convict from Ohio penitentiary that he committed four shootings, killed two men and attempted three armed robberies during the first month of his parole from Ohio penitentiary was recorded today in Lucas county common pleas court.

The confession was read into the court records at the opening of the first degree murder trial of Thomas Williams, 37, Negro, for the slaying of Samuel Arnovitz and Herman Kender in Toledo on Aug. 1.

Williams revealed his multiple criminal activities in a statement to Coroner Frank Kreft soon after he was arrested for the Toledo murders. The statement was read to a three-judge court, hearing the murder case, by Prosecutor Thomas O'Connor.

The statement showed that Williams was paroled from the Ohio prison on Aug. 1 into the custody of a sister in Louisiana. He visited the sister for about two weeks, purchasing a gun in a New Orleans pawnshop.

He went to Detroit about the middle of July, violating his parole. On July 28, he broke into the bedroom of a woman and demanded money and jewelry. The woman screamed and Williams fled.

On July 29, he forced a motorist at gun point to drive him from Detroit to Flat Rock and return and then robbed the man and shot him.

Williams took a bus to Toledo and robbed the office of the Toledo Ice and Fuel company on Aug. 1, shooting the cashier. After the holdup, Williams tried to force Kander and Arnovitz to drive him to Detroit. When they refused, he shot them, both dying from their wounds.

He was arrested in railroad yards here on Aug. 3.

URGES PENSION OF $30 MONTHLY

Senate Committee Also Asks Payroll Tax Be Boosted To 6 Per Cent.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—A special senate committee recommended to congress today liberalization of the social security laws to provide minimum old age pensions of $30 monthly to all unemployed persons over the age of 60.

The committee also proposed that old age insurance benefits begin at a $30 monthly minimum and that combined employer-employe payroll taxes be boosted to 6 per cent by Jan 1, 1944, a level which would not be reached under present law until Jan. 1, 1949. At present employers and employes each pay 1 per cent.

The extended benefits urged by the committee, named to investigate the government's old age pension setup, would cost an estimated $4,000,000,000 annually.

Under present law, the age minimum for pension and insurance beneficiaries is 65. The pensions vary by states and in 1940, ranged from $3.89 monthly in Arkansas to $18.94 in California. Committee records said insurance benefits averaged $20.48 monthly.

The proposed new pension minimum would rise from $20 effective next July 1 to the $30 figure in 1944. It should be paid, the committee said, to "every American citizen who has retired from gainful employment at or after the age of 60" unless he is receiving federal old age insurance benefits or is covered by the 1940 railroad retirement act.

The committee also recommended extension of old age and survivors, insurance to provide for universal coverage and that all groups within the extended coverage start paying taxes Jan. 1, 1943. An immediate investigation was urged to devise a plan to embrace self-employed groups, farmers and farm workers and employes of all government sub-divisions—the main classifications not now covered.

COUSIN SAYS LINDBERGH FAILS TO MEET TRUE AMERICAN TEST

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI—Describing himself as one Lindbergh who is no appeaser, Augustus Franklin Lindbergh of Birmingham, Ala., accused his noted cousin, Charles A. Lindbergh, in a network broadcast here last night of failing to meet the test of a true American.

The test, he said, singling out his aviator cousin and Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont) as failures in it, was whether or not a person "can subordinate his or her will to that of the government in times of national emergency."

The lean, soft-spoken Birmingham attorney, chairman of the Alabama fight for freedom committee, spoke under sponsorship of the committee over a Columbia Broadcasting System network on "What's Wrong With the Isolationists?"

"The burning ambition of many of the isolationist leaders is to be elevated to positions of power in the government. x x x They play politics at its lowest form," he charged.

Maintaining that "the foreign policy of our government has been fixed these many months" and "we are at war," he declared that "the policy of these isolationists comes very, very close to being treason."

"No man has a right," he continued, "to obstruct his government during a national crisis, and that is exactly what some of those on Capitol Hill in Washington and one member of the family of Lindbergh are trying to do now."

SEEKS PILOTS

Aeronautics Director Plans Home Guard of Air.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio's home guard of the air moved a step nearer reality today as Earle L. Johnson, state director of aeronautics, announced definite plans for recruiting members from the state's 4,000 civilian pilots, airplane mechanics and radio operators.

At the same time Johnson said he thought that "before the week is out President Roosevelt will announce a similar program for the entire United States."

The air unit will serve as a civilian branch of the army air corps and ultimately become affiliated with the state home guard under direction of Adjutant General Whittier S. Bird.

Johnson said enlistments would be "for the duration" of the present emergency and that no age limit will be set. Women, too, will be admitted, he said.

Investigate Sale Of Home to Meet 79 Cent Tax Bill

LOS ANGELES —(INS)— Public sale of a widow's small home for $118 to satisfy a 79-cent delinquent tax bill was under investigation today by city officials.

The 79 cents was a tax balance against the former owner, a war veteran. Mrs. Natalie Myer said she was unaware of the unpaid tax bill when she bought the property in 1936. Yesterday she received a notice informing her that she no longer was the legal owner.

"It doesn't require a phenomenon from a standpoint of intelligence on the part of the public official to know that something was wrong when a home was sold for $118 to satisfy a 79-cent tax bill," commented Supervisor Oscar Hauge.

Braves Go Eleven Innings to Edge Fostoria Flock

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Heavy shod hoofs are thudding against the pigskin again these late August days, and the first outside news of interest to Mansfield high football fans comes from Newark, where the largest squad in recent years, 56 candidates, answered Coach Luther Hanshue's first grid call.

The defending Central Ohio league-champion Wildcats, expecting a highly successful season this fall, have booked Mansfield's Tygers for a game at Newark Friday night, Oct. 10. late

The Cats have only seven lettermen back but they include Bill Craig, the big boy from the O S and S O. Home at Xenia who made the Newark football and basketball teams what they were last year, and who won the shot-put championship at the Mansfield relays

Newark lost its entire backfield from last year and has replacements to make at the tackle posts but promising subs and reserves of last season are being groomed to take over in these spots

When Tygercat and Wildcat tangle,
The woods'll be full of jungle-jangle.

It'll be the fourth game of the season for both of the jungle squads.

Newark meets Columbus West, Lancaster and Marietta in successive Friday night games before tangling with the Tygers, while Mansfield opens here Sept. 19 with Akron West, goes to Elyria Sept. 26, and meets Sandusky here Oct. 3.

Both Newark and Mansfield probably will see heavy action before the opening of the season. The Wildcats are arranging a practice game against an alumni team Sept. 6, while Mansfield was tentatively scheduled last spring for a practice game at Toledo Waite this fall.

There'll be little news out of the Mansfield camp until next week. Most of the boys on the 1941 squad have been working out on their own initiative to get in shape for the coming campaign but officially practice won't start for the Tygers until Sept. 2

They had the groundwork for a successful season in their practice sessions last spring and gave indication in practice games with Toledo Waite, Coshocton and an alumni aggregation that they're due to go places this fall

* * *

The Tygers are tackling a suicide schedule in games with Akron West, Elyria, Sandusky, Newark, Springfield Massillon, Cleveland Central, Canton McKinley, Shelby and Fremont on successive week-ends

Supplies to Meet Tappans for Crown

The Athletic Supplies won the second half championship of the Commercial League last night and go right to meet Tappan's softball club first half titleholders in League play-off as they defeated Mansfield Tires 12-9.

The Supplies hammered out nine hits for their 12 runs with Pritzman's doubled out 10 bingles to the Tires

Black sparked the Supplies attack with two out of four, one of his bingles being good for a round trip. Alton and Wentz led the losing club at bat.

Gromek Wins First Decision

Heath, Campbell Lead Tribe's 18 Hit Attack.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—If someone wants to prescribe a few vitamins for the Cleveland Indians, he might recommend the brand Jeff Heath and Soup Campbell discovered.

Tuesday after Boston had defeated the Tribe 9 to 4, the pair decided they needed some batting practice, although Heath had smacked a homer in the game. They hung around the park for half an hour, sharpening their timing

The results showed up yesterday, when they led an 18-hit attack on the Philadelphia Athletics, which gave young Steve Gromek an 11 to 4 victory in his first major league decision.

* * *

Heath, in five times at bat, hit two homers, each with two on base, and a triple with one on, for a total of seven runs batted in. Campbell got five straight singles in as many tries.

The Athletics make the last appearance of an eastern team today and will send Johnny Babich to the mound against Al Milnar.

Yesterday Manager Roger Peckinpaugh benched Beau Bell, returned Ray Mack to second base and sent Grimes to first.

The desperate hopes of the Cincinnati Reds for a miracle that would return them a third straight world series have been engulfed in the slow tide that seems to be carrying the Brooklyn Dodgers on its crest

They had their best and perhaps last chance to break into the thick of the National league pennant scramble last night and failed, as Kirby Higbe whipped Johnny Vander Meer 4-2 before 30,000 fans at Ebbets Field.

The A's got two of their runs in the fourth inning off the 21-year-old right-hander on fluke hits.

Toledo In Fight for AA First Division

(By Associated Press)

Toledo is threatening seriously to make it a three-team free-for-all for the third and fourth team positions in the American Association playoffs

The battling Mud Hens, in fifth place, are only a game behind Kansas City and Minneapolis, virtually tied for third and fourth. It's the only interesting angle at present in the Association race, because Louisville is in second by 4½ games and leading Columbus holds a 7½ game edge over the Colonels.

The Hens forged a 3 to 1 victory over Indianapolis last night, while the Blues were stopped, 3 to 0, on the two-hit pitching of Verdie Hitmsl, St. Paul righthander

The Millers bowed to Milwaukee, which scored two runs in the 10th for a 6 to 4 victory. The Louisville Colonels cut Columbus' lead a game with a 5 to 4 triumph

Bob TeStruth's Single Drives In Winning Run

Tight Defensive Play Backs Up Good Hurling Job by Wolpert

SPTS — BOB TESTRUTH ....BYRNES

The horse race for the Ohio State league championship continues with both the loop-leading Fremont Green Sox and the three-game trailing Mansfield Braves showing signs of feeling the pressure as they roar down the home stretch of the title chase

It took the Braves 11 innings last night to subdue the stubborn Fostoria Red Birds at the Fairground 4 to 3, while Fremont barely edged the last-place Findlay Oilers 8 to 7

The Braves were without their batting punch again last night, scoring only one earned run, the big game-winning marker in the 11th frame

But their defensive play was of a high order throughout the pastiming, and so was the brand of hurling dished up by tall Freddy Wolpert, and if the Mansfielders have tightened up it wasn't evident in their work afield.

The Braves took advantage of the wildness of sorry Sonny Moore, who hasn't completed a nine-inning game this season, to send three runs across the platter in the fourth and fifth innings, but errors figured in the scoring and none of the three markers was earned

All of the Fostoria runs were earned as they tallied twice in the third on a single by Brosius a walk from Waters, and a triple down the right field line by Pistol Cannon. A mighty home run drive over the scoreboard by Pete Kousagen in the ninth tied the score and sent the game into extra stanzas

Mansfield got a run in the fourth when Eddie Mutryn doubled far over Waters' head in centerfield, and came home on an error by Streng as the Red Bird second sacker let Harry Siegbert's roller go through him.

With two out in the fifth, Moore walked Tim Mangan, Mutryn and Siegbert in order, and then helped two runs across the pan when he fumbled Bill Salem's topped drive and then threw wild to the plate. Siegbert also attempted to score on the error but was run down between third and home.

Charley Shisha, who took the mound for the Birds in the sixth, kept the Braves in check with three scattered hits until the 11th.

Then Salem drew a walk and immediately stole second. Dick Morse laid down a neat sacrifice sending Salem to third. Alex Clowson, batting for Bill Reinka, was purposely passed, and so was Wolpert. When Bobby Ankrum fanned for the second out the crowd settled back to see several more innings of baseball, but Bobby TeStruth was in a hurry to get home. He smacked a hot shot over the third-base bag, and Salem came scampering home with the winning run

The Red Birds argued long and loud that the hit was foul, but once more the umpires were right.

* * *

Dick Morse, Bobby TeStruth and Eddie Mutryn sparked the Braves' defensive play. While Morse had the only Mansfield error on a wide throw to first, the Birds could get nothing by him at the hot corner as he came up with several impossible stops and a one-handed snag of the Dodgers, preserving their game and a half margin over the St. Louis Cardinals, who beat the New York Giants in another night game 8-5.

But it was even more important for the Reds. They had won 16 of their last 20 games in a great late-summer surge and would have moved within 7½ games of first place if they had won.

However, their loss dropped them 9½ behind Brooklyn and eight back of St. Louis, and proved to most people that the flag competition is going to continue as a two-club race right down to the finish.

The Cardinals had to come from behind to beat the Giants. The Redbirds made three costly errors in the early innings and Babe Young hit his 20th homer with one on. As the result Lefty Ernie White lasted only five innings. Then Harry Gumbert took over and pitched four scoreless innings in relief and the powerful St. Louis artillery opened up. They tallied six runs in the three final frames tying the score with three in the seventh to end Carl Hubbell's stay, breaking the deadlock with two in the eighth and finishing with a home run by Walker Cooper in the ninth.

In the other National league games Pittsburgh walloped the Phillies 12-2 and the Chicago Cubs divided a doubleheader with the Boston Braves. Manny Salvo shut out the Cubs 6-0 and then Charley Root pitched 8⅔ innings in relief to win the second session 6-4 and gain the 200th victory of his 16-year career.

The New York Yankees added another game to their immense American league lead by overwhelming the St. Louis Browns 11-1 in a night game, and Ernie Bonham pitched three-hit ball.

* * *

Washington's Senators crushed the Chicago White Sox 11-3. The Boston Red Sox dropped a 6-3 verdict to the Detroit Tigers.

Trotters Duel Looms at Fair

Perpetual Races In Three-Year-Old Event.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—A duel between two crack trotters loomed in the annual running today of the Governor's Cup Stake, premier event on the Ohio State Fair's five-day harness racing program.

Perpetual, famous trotter owned by Dr. Hugh M. Parshall of Urbana, and Lansdown, which won the Director of Agriculture Stake for William Hughes of Cleveland last year, appeared to be the horses to beat in the $1,500 event for three-year-olds. A field of 10 was expected to race.

Fair officials looked for a crowd even greater than the record 10,000 which jammed around the track yesterday and saw Summer Son, entry of Major Lanning of Mt. Vernon, romp to victory in a straight heat victory in the Director of Agriculture Stake.

The other principal event on yesterday's card, the $2,000 Ohio pacing derby, was run in two divisions. Senator Abbe of O. H. Lowen's Wilmington stables captured second division money, while the first section was divided three ways.

Moose Take League Championship

The Moose softball club sewed up the Club league championship last night as they repeated their first half performance and captured the second leg title by defeating the Ohio Public Service club 10-8.

The Moose nicked the slants of Airhart for 11 bingles while Brown gave up nine hits to the winning club.

Kunz and Laughlin sparked the Moose attack, both pushing out circuit clouts Oswalt and Harper did the heavy swinging for the OPS.

Nelson Keeps Ohio PGA Title

Blistering Final Round Earns Byron Crown.

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Every golfer in the world has plenty of those days when he can't do anything right, but Byron Nelson has had one when he couldn't do anything wrong.

* * *

That is his only explanation for the way he kept his Ohio P. G. A. championship when everybody on the lost was saying this young buck from Akron, Herman Keiser, was going to get it.

Thoroughly happy about it all, the big Toledo pro sat in the locker room and listened to the talk about his record-shattering 62, ten under par, on the final 18 yesterday for a 72-hole total 271. His 72-hole total was 17 under par.

"I just couldn't miss," he said with a tired smile "It just seemed that I couldn't do anything wrong. I don't know why."

His 62, made up of 30 out and 32 in, came on top of rounds of 69, 72, and 68. Starting the last 18 he was trailing Keiser by four strokes and Keiser had shot 69-68-68—205 that far.

Nelson shot over the first six holes in 18. By the time he reached the 12th he was nine under par and ahead of Keiser.

By that time the fairway grapevine had carried the news to Keiser, who was playing several holes behind. He came to the turn in par-36 but knew he was beaten in his first try for an Ohio title.

He knew he had second money cinched, so he let up on the pressure to make sure he wouldn't blow up, and came in with a 37 for a grand total of 278, ten under par for the whole distance.

SCIENCE MOVES TO PENETRATE HAZE OF LIFE

Researchers Hope to Disclose What Maintains Atom, Basis of Matter.

BERKELEY, Cal.—(U.P.)—Five scientists at the University of California have signed a report declaring their conviction that science is at last on the trail of the "mystery of life" as well as that of all other matter that exists throughout the universe.

The group of physicists is composed of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, professor of physics at the University of California, and four of his student assistants, Robert Christy and Shuichi Kusaka, teaching assistants in physics, Julian Schwinger, research associate, and William Rarita, research fellow.

The work has reached an advanced stage that has justified a report to scientific bodies of the United States that the mesotron is the "binding" element that holds all of the other component parts of an atom together, and as such is the veritable key to the mystery of life and the secret of what makes an atom an integral whole and the basis of all matter.

This mesotron, as it is known today, is a subatomic bullet with terrific power that is released when cosmic rays from the outer reaches of space smash atoms on the earth's surface.

So great is the energy of these mesotrons that once released by the smashing up of an atom they have been found to penetrate one-third of a mile under the surface of the earth and a mile under the sea.

It is this terrific energy that is believed to be sufficiently great to hold an atom together and constitute the "binding" element of atomic built matter.

While the 225-ton cyclotron has worked to date and has been dubbed the "atom smasher," it in reality only has been strong enough to knock off portions of the atom and show that at least two of its component parts are protons, which are particles with positive electrical charges, and neutrons, or particles with no charge.

The cyclotron, however, has not disintegrated an atom into all its component parts. But this the new 5,000-ton engine is expected to do.

When this objective has been attained, mesotrons then will be available for a complete study of their role in the mystery of life and matter.

But the five scientists have processed sufficiently in their research to be willing to stake their scientific reputations on the statement that they are on the right track.

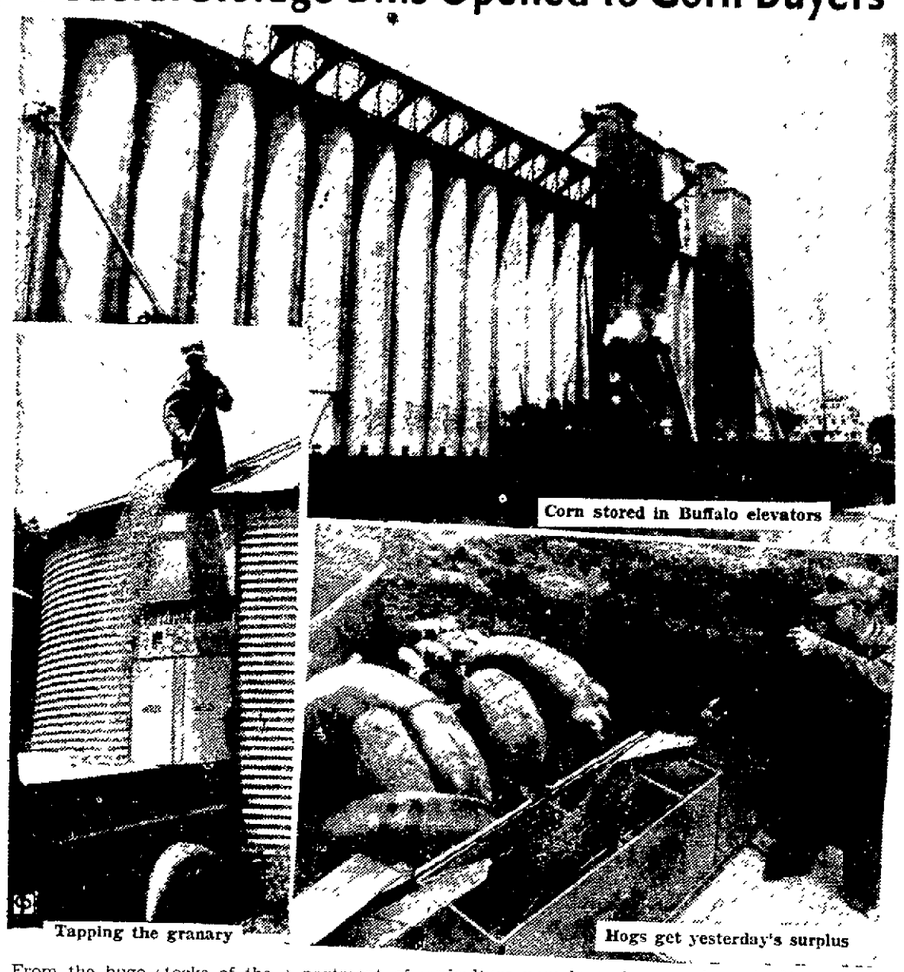
Federal Storage Bins Opened to Corn Buyers



Tapping the granary

Corn stored in Buffalo elevators

Hogs get yesterday's surplus

From the huge stocks of the federal government's Ever-Normal Granary, accumulated as surplus corn in payment of loans to farmers in 1938-39, the department of agriculture now is selling corn to farmers for feeding to hogs, dairy cows and hens, as national defense and aid-to-Britain take more and more of the normal supply. Farmers who do not live near any of the government's steel storage bins get their supply through farmer co-operatives.

Flag Ripples At Crossing, Stirs Rail, Motors Travelers

GARY, Ind. —(U.P.)— Where two railroads cross U. S. Route 12, on the edge of the lonely Indiana dunelands, a kindly, grey-haired man has added new meaning to the word "patriot," and a refreshing glimpse of simple Americanism to passing travelers.

Henry Humphrey is the watchman at the crossing.

From a crude mast outside the watchman's shanty flutters an American flag. Between his job of raising and lowering the crossing gates, Henry Humphrey has time to read the papers and he has acquired a better than average understanding of world conditions and just what sort of emergency it is that his country faces.

Then Humphrey read about the nationwide preparations for "I Am An American Day."

He cut down a 15-foot sapling, stripped the bark and rigged a lanyard to it with a length of sashcord, and erected the mast outside his shanty.

Since then he holds a flag-raising all his own every morning. The flag is one he bought 23 years ago to celebrate the end of the World war at Frankfort, Ill. It was wrinkled and musty when he dug it out of its moth-balls, but it will never get that way again, he said.

"Everyone — householders and business men alike — should be proud to fly their country's flag in times like these," Humphrey declared.

"As for those who act as if they are ashamed of Old Glory, and all it means to us who live under it, they ought to get out and stay out. Big as America is, there's no room for them here!"

Humphrey is 53 years old, of Irish descent, and came to Gary from Pawnee, Ill. Childless, he and his wife have reared two boys adopted from an orphanage in Illinois.

Humphrey's flag, seen daily by hundreds passing on the highway and railroads, has caused much comment, and admiration. Once an army officer, seated on the observation platform of a passing train rose to his feet as he saw the flag, flicked away his cigaret, and stood at attention until the train disappeared in the distance.

LEAKY FAUCET CASTS RENOWN UPON ENGINEER

His Research Into Wastage Turns Up a Mass of Big Figures.

WAUKESHA, Wis. — (U.P.) — A leaky faucet brought fame to Arthur P. Kuranz, superintendent of the Waukesha water department.

Kuranz was attracted one day by the trickle of water from a worn faucet. Scientifically minded, he brought out his slide rule and a stop watch and did some calculating with the result that he became a pioneer in the field of counting drops of water.

His study of the subject with a view to preventing waste has resulted in state and national recognition.

Winner of the national Fuller award presented for achievement in the water industry in the state last year, Kuranz will be awarded the honor at the national convention of the American Waterworks association meeting at Toronto next summer.

Some amazing figures on the amount of water lost through a leaky faucet were turned up by Kuranz's calculations. For instance, a tap leaking at the rate of 120 drops a minute adds up to 172,000 drops lost daily. Taking Kuranz's estimate of 63,000 drops to a gallon, that means a waste of almost three gallons from the single faucet.

Add to this total from other worn faucets in the building and, in the case of a hot water tap, the cost of heating the water (about 85 cents a month in Waukesha for one tap) and Kuranz's seemingly insignificant job of counting water drops becomes something significant. The problem grows in importance when a community has a limited water supply.

One of the difficulties encountered by Kuranz has been to determine the number of drops of water in a gallon. The National Water Meter Institute at Washington, admitted that the problem has not yet been studied "in anything approaching a scientific way" and solicited its members for suggestions.

One member suggested that the druggists rule of 60 drops to a teaspoon with multiplication by other known measures would place the total at 61,440 drops. Kuranz believes this to be about 1,500 drops short however.

Notched Leaf Warning Sign of Poison Ivy

DES MOINES, Ia. —(U P)— You may be immune to poison ivy and you may not, the Iowa state health department says, but adds that "a case of ivy poisoning is too high a price to pay to find out."

The department recommends avoiding the plant "as though it were smallpox," although poison ivy doesn't bother some persons at all, while others cannot even go near it without an attack.

Describing poison ivy for picnickers and others who might contact it, the department said the plant is characterized by three leaves growing on low, upright plants or vines which reach heights of from several inches to three or four feet.

The leaflets have notched margins and are an inch to four inches in length, dark green on top and lighter beneath. Two of the leaves grow on short stalks and the third is on a long stalk.

The only substance of ivy is believed to cause the poisoning. First sign of trouble will appear within several hours to five days or even longer after exposure. Early use of soap and hot water will prevent much distress.

QUITS IDLING

Craftsman, 82, Gives Up Ease To Construct Ships.

GLOUCESTER, Mass.—(U.P.)— After eight years retirement 82-year-old John Prince Story got tired of "jest settin' around" so he quit his idling and reopened the 300-year-old Story boat yard.

And the elderly Essex county boat builder found plenty of customers among the fishermen who won their sailing reputations on Story-built boats.

A top-notch craftsman, Story has built 500 ships and now is at work on a $55,000, 101-foot dragger for Cap'n Albert Boudreau.

Down on the ways where the chips are flying is Story's grandson Jonathan — a real craftsman despite his youth. He expects to take charge of the yard when his grandfather finally quits for good and thus keep the family's boat-building reputation intact.

LOCAL PROMINENT HAMILTON MAN RECOMMENDS BEE BEE'S TO ANYONE SUFFERING WITH KIDNEY TROUBLE

"Declares that his urine didn't flow free enough and he would be called to relieve his kidneys several times each night which disturbed his sleep greatly. Thanks to Bee Bee's for giving relief."

HARRY M. MURRAY

"I have been bothered with annoying nightly risings to relieve my kidneys, and my urine didn't flow freely," says Mr. Harry M. Murray, 76 years of age, 3108 Dixie Highway, Hamilton, Ohio.

"For several months I suffered from pains and soreness in my back, stiff and sore joints and muscles I was nervous and my energy seemed to have gone which was due to poor sleep. I suffered from a burning, itching and smarting sensation made urination even more undesirable, which was scanty and cloudy I tried other remedies but they didn't seem to give me much relief When I first heard of Bee Bees I thought it was just another medicine but due to my tremendous suffering I decided to give it a trial at least. I was amazed with the remarkable relief Bee Bee's gave me My above sufferings have all gone and now I sleep well and am no longer burdened with scanty and burning urination I recommend Bee Bees to anyone suffering kidney troubles."

Love Will Come Again + + +

By Alma Sioux Scarberry

CHAPTER XVI

It was a treacherous winter evening with snow and slush lying thick on the streets, and a coating of ice underneath. April drove carefully to avoid skidding. Windows along the way through Queens were gay with Christmas baubles, for the holiday was but a few days away.

April's heart was heavy with memories of other years when the yuletide was gay and full of love and laughter. There was the first Christmas in their new apartment in New York a few months after she and Hill were married, for instance.

It had been the first Christmas April had ever spent away from her family in Virginia. Hill had managed to get her out of the apartment to do some shopping for him and when she came back he was just putting the finishing touches to a tree that he had kept hidden in the basement as a surprise.

April had just learned she was going to have a baby, and the evening was a momentous one because she had saved her surprise for Hill until Christmas eve. How excited and proud he had been, holding her close and kissing her tenderly and telling her over and over how much he loved her, and how much more wonderful it would be when they were three.

The next Christmas Kenny was just big enough to notice their tree, and his big blue eyes had opened wide with surprise when he saw the colored lights and decorations. His delighted baby gurgle had been the sweetest Christmas music ever heard April had thought.

Hill had bought Kenny a fire engine and boxing gloves and a set of little golf sticks, which had amused April very much when she thought how long it would be before his son would be big enough to appreciate them.

Torturing herself with memories April had gone over every Christmas she and Hill had spent together, and she thought how much more tragic broken homes seemed when holly wreaths appeared in the windows and Santa Claus came to town.

It was a time when every little boy and girl was entitled to a father and a mother, and all the old fashioned atmosphere of fire places with chimneys for Santa Claus to come down. The blessed confusion April herself had enjoyed as a child at Christmastime! How tragic it was that Kenny would grow up remembering none of these things shared with his father and mother together.

Then April's thoughts turned to Curt De Witt, and the engagement that would have to be announced soon. Taking herself firmly in hand, she chided herself for living in the past and allowing memories of her marriage to Hill to interfere with her life as it had to be lived that day and other days to follow.

How unintelligent it was to live in the past. To torture herself where there wasn't a thing that could be done to change matters. It was wrong and stupid and unmodern. Curt would be a fine father to Kenny. Much more solid and dependable than Hill had ever been.

Poor Hill, who would go out and spend a small fortune on a trick boat or engine for his son, but hadn't the faintest conception apparently that it would be much kinder and more paternal to dig in and find a job and make sure the child's future was secure.

How unbearable Hill's boyish blindness to reality had finally become! How frightful the thoughts of the years of insecurity lying ahead.

Well, April told herself, Curt De Witt could give Kenny everything of material security that he had been entitled to, but unable to get from his father. Beside, Curt was a wonderful person who would be incapable of unkindness and smallness.

He too had been scarred in marital battle, and he would appreciate a devoted, intelligent wife such as she intended being to him. He could give April and her son the security Hill would not fight to give him, and she could make it up to him by giving him the love and devotion he needed.

Thus April reasoned as she had often done before, fighting down the dull despairing ache in her heart and making her head take rule. She was coolly determined by the time she reached Queensborough bridge not to let old memories creep into her thoughts and hurt her again during the holidays. It was utter nonsense. Certainly Hill wasn't shedding any tears over a dead past. But men were different. They weren't the sentimental fools women were.

Traffic was light on Queensborough bridge because of the bad weather, and because it was after the rush hour and before theater time. April was glad the bridge wasn't crowded, for she was always a little nervous when swiftly moving cars passed her in winter weather when there was snow on the ground, or on a rainy day.

April was almost over the bridge when she saw the big touring car racing toward her. The only two other cars behind had managed to get out of the way of the drunken driver at the wheel. April pulled over to the side as far as she could the instant she saw the car shooting toward her. But her caution did no good.

Weaving drunkenly, the machine careened closer and she closed her eyes as the mirror told her there was no chance of escaping a wreck. With a deafening crash the machine struck her small car. That was the last thing April remembered.

The driver of the other car was killed instantly. Identification papers showed him to be Paul Hickson, real estate broker of Mayford, New Jersey. Mr. Hickson had enjoyed his last cocktail party a short while before.

Patrolman Jack Fowler pulled the unconscious April from the wreck of her machine and another officer passing by called that he was sending for an ambulance. Fowler was afraid to make an attempt to get April to a hospital in a commandeered machine, as she was so badly injured. It was necessary to wait and let a physician move her.

He sighed heavily seeing how young and lovely she was. Fowler knew Hickson was dead, and that nothing could be done for him.

* * *

Gay answered the phone a half hour later. It was the Channing hospital. Mrs. April Lind Hillyer had been injured in an accident and identification papers in her bag gave her telephone as that number. Was there someone there who could come to the hospital at once? Gay fought to keep from fainting.

"Cherry! Cherry!" she screamed when she had hung up the phone, "April is in the hospital."

Cherry came running from the bedroom.

"My God!" she cried, terror in her eyes. "What has happened?"

"Her car was wrecked," Gay shuddered, "We must go."

"Get our hats and coats," Cherry took command. "I'll call Curt. He must know. We'll take a cab. I'll phone for one after I call him."

Gay called Hyacinthe who began weeping bitterly and was worse than useless in helping find the things they needed to take with them.

"Oh, my poor baby," the old colored woman wailed loudly. "My poor baby. Ain't she had 'nough trouble a'ready. My poor baby!"

"Stop it, Hyacinthe!" Cherry said firmly. "You'll awaken Kenny. "Pull yourself together and take good care of him till we get back. We'll telephone you just as soon as we know how April is. She'll be all right."

Gay lost some of her hysteria and found coats and rubbers as Cherry made the telephone calls. Cherry scribbled Pat's number on a pad as they waited for their cab.

"Here Hyacinthe," she told the maid, "phone Mr. Hastings and tell him to meet us at the Channing hospital as soon as he can. I called Mr. De Witt. They're trying to reach him. He hasn't come home yet. I left a message. If he calls here tell him to meet us at the hospital too."

Gay and Cherry clung to each other for comfort as the cab went as swiftly as it could through the slushy streets. Once Cherry said:

"If anything happens to April, I'll die. I've been so rotten to her. I've given her so much worry, when she was having so much other trouble of her own. Oh, Gay, I'm so sorry."

"Gay's eyes filled quickly: "Oh, honey, don't blame yourself. April doesn't. She was just saying the other day how proud she was of the way you'd settled down, and that she never had doubted you for one little minute. She understood you were just young and silly."

Cherry said desperately: "I'll make it up to her. Every minute of it. Oh, Gay I don't see why all these terrible things have to happen to April. She doesn't do anything wrong. Why couldn't it have happened to me? It isn't fair!"

Gay soothed: "Don't try to understand, honey. It's just life I guess. I oftentimes wonder why all the tragedy seems to happen to the saintly people myself. Isn't there a quotation in the Bible about 'God loveth whom he chasteneth,' or something like that."

When Gay and Cherry got out of their cab, Curt De Witt's car was driving up in front of the Channing hospital.

There's Curt," said Cherry. "Oh, I'm glad they got in touch with him."

"Poor darling," Gay sighed. "He must be wild."

Curt leaped from his limousine and started up the walk without recognizing the two girls.

"Curt," Cherry called. He turned, and they saw his face was white with strain.

"I was at the club," he explained hurriedly. "My housekeeper called me. What in God's name has happened to April?"

"We only know her car was struck by another machine, and that she's here," Cherry took Curt's arm. "Come on, darling, we'll go see. I'm sure he'll be all right."

Curt's face was such a mask of tragedy both girls felt they had to hide their own fear. At the desk in the corridor the girl at the switchboard told them:

"Mrs. Hillyer is in the operating room. If you are members of her family please wait in the reception room on the fourteenth floor."

They could get no other information, and with heart sinking they took the elevator upstairs.

Draft Board Query Nets a Model Husband

HOUSTON, Tex.—(INS)—A negro draft registrant has given the Houston local draft board No. 15 a headache.

When he returned his questionnaire, the board found that in answer to the question, "How much do you contribute to a dependent's support other than board and room?" — the negro answered that he contributed $600 yearly for his wife's pleasure.

The board returned the questionnaire for correction. Back it came, unchanged, and with this note attached:

"I have no bad habits. I may be termed henpecked but I only keep 75 cents per week as I do not smoke, drink or chase other women. I turn the balance of my salary over to my wife every pay day and she handles same. If there is any left after bills are paid, I do not get it."

The draft board asked the model husband to come down and maybe they could straighten out the unorthodox answer.

STOCKS RESUME MILD ADVANCE ON MART TODAY

Hopeful Business Items Aid Market Although Bidding Lacks Power.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Stocks continued to tap out modest advances in today's market without the benefit of a great deal of bidding power. Improved tendencies displayed in yesterday's session were present at the opening.

In addition to persistent ideas on inflation, brokers said, bullish forces had a number of hopeful business items to go on. Doubters were plentiful, however, as talk of spreading governmental restrictions was heard and the international picture provided scant buying inspiration.

Market students derived encouragement from the summary of the Engineering News-Record disclosing this week's heavy construction awards jumped 55 per cent over the preceding week and were 116 per cent above the comparable 1940 period.

Cheering also were the Dun & Bradstreet figures indicating the country's bank clearings in the week ended Wednesday showed the widest increase over 1940 in a decade.

Veteran Golfers, Old Friends In Mansfield, Tee Off At Westbrook.

a few had posted their cards at the end of the first nine.

The tournament is over the 36-hole route on a tough course. The second 18 will be played tomorrow.

Two Mansfielders and two Galion golfers, however, had turned in their scores for the first nine. Leading at that point, which is, as mentioned before, entirely indecisive, was M. L. Helfrick of Galion, in Class F (the youngest class, from 50 through 54) with a 50. Another Galionite, L. M. Liggett, playing in Class B (70-74) posted a 52. The two Mansfielders, also in Class B were W. M. Weldon and Harry S. Black. Weldon had a 55 and Black carded a 60.

Scores in the various classes are handicapped, and prizes are awarded in each division. Straight medal play determines the tournament title, however.

Ninety golfers had registered this morning. Thirty more are expected to show up this afternoon, according to tournament officials.

Among the early arrivals were former Governor George White of Marietta and Louis Brush, Salem, Ohio newspaper publisher.

Lunch was served in a big tent on the grounds this noon — a makeshift necessitated because the clubhouse burned to the ground last June.

The seniors will have their annual banquet at the Mansfield-Leland hotel tonight, and wind up their golfing tomorrow.
